Canadian Scottish Say Goodbye to Their Home Town

R. W. Mayhew, M.P., wishes Lieut. Col. J. R. Kingham, O.C. of the First Battalion, Canadian Scottish Regiment, the best of luck. Col. Kingham's mother stands between the two and his wife is at his side.

"It's a Long Way to Tipperary," the boys sing as they sail away. (See Page 13 for additional pictures.)

The War Today

By H. M. PETERS
CONFERENCE
Hitler and Mussolini conferred at the Brenner Pass today at the same time that the Italian press advised the people not to expect a quick victory over the British Empire.

The dictators met under the shadow of a crisis in their affairs caused by the failure of Hitler's air force to blast out a path of invasion across the English Channel, and the delay to put it mildly—in Italy's planned advance through the Egyptian desert to the fertile valley of the Nile.

SUCCESS

At sea the Axis powers have scored some successes in sinking British shipping, but at the large cost of nine submarines lost in a few weeks. In the Mediterranean the Royal Navy moved at will, seeking to swing its guns on Italian ships, but with no luck.

In the face of this situation the dictators presumably sought some means of striking new blows at Britain or the countries friendly to her.

Relations of the new alliance—Germany, Italy and Japan—with the great non-belligerents, the United States and Russia, were possibly also under discussion.

UNEASY

The Greek-Albanian frontier was uneasy, with troop movements reported. Greek statesmen looked uneasily toward Brennero, wondering if the order for an Italian attack might result from it.

Most signs seemed to point to action somewhere around the vast Mediterranean. An attempt with Spain's connivance to get control of the Straits of Gibraltar, a drive to reinforce the Italian army in Egypt, an assault by the German-Italian air force on British fleet units and naval bases, an attack on Greece, any or all of these seemed possibilities.

Or perhaps the conference had to do with home affairs. Italy and Germany faced the problem of obtaining supplies this winter, with the Royal Navy blocking the way. Italy practically admitted at the time she entered the war that she was not prepared for a long struggle.

KIDNAPPER GIVEN LIFE IN PRISON

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP)—In his third four-minute court appearance, Wilhelm Muhlenbruch was sentenced to life imprisonment today for the kidnapping of three-year-old Marc de Trianon Jr.

The German alien was sentenced exactly two weeks after he had snatched the little boy from a Hillsborough street in what he planned as the "perfect kidnapping."

Final Bulletins

2 Internees Escape

PORT ARTHUR, Ont. (CP)—Police here said they had been asked to be on the lookout for two men whose escape from a northwestern Ontario internment camp was discovered at 2 this afternoon.

The men were reported to be Rudolph Reeschendach, 16, a sailor, and Ernest Mueller, no age given.

Night Raid Early

LONDON (CP)—German air raiders returned to the assault on London tonight earlier than usual. Heavy gunfire immediately crashed over the central area and continued with undiminished fury for more than two hours during the after-dark assault.

No Recognition

OTTAWA (CP)—Demand for union recognition was turned down this afternoon in the majority report of a board of conciliation on differences between the John Inglis Company of Toronto and its boilermakers, iron ship builders, welders, machine hands and helpers. The report referred to the war emergency.

Alsace Now Nazi

LONDON (CP)—Gen. de Larmat, appointed Governor-General of French equatorial Africa by Gen. Charles de Gaulle, leader of Free Frenchmen, stated tonight that a secret clause of the French-German armistice returned Alsace-Lorraine to the Reich immediately and unconditionally.

Detroit Wins to Take Series Lead

BRIGGS STADIUM, DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers today exploded a 13-hit barrage to overwhelm the Cincinnati Reds 7 to 4 and gain a two to one advantage in the 1940 world series.

Rudy York and Frank Higgins supplied Detroit with homers in the seventh inning that broke up a sparkling pitching duel between Jim Turner, of the Reds, and Tommy Bridges, of the Tigers.

Both of the four base clouts came with a Tiger on base and Higgins walloped high into the upper left field stands sent Turner to the showers. Whitney Moore came in and got the side out. He was lifted for a pinch hitter in the Cincinnati eighth and Joe Beggs went to the hill for the Reds in the last half only to be shelled for two more runs.

Bridges, who won two games for Detroit in the 1935 world series, was touched for 10 hits and staggered near the finish.

Smiles and Tears At Great Farewell

Men of Victoria's 1st Battalion Canadian Scottish Regiment, with broad grins on their bronzed faces, said farewells to a vast throng that rose before daylight to wish them good luck. They have gone to eastern Canada for further training.

Wives and mothers and sweethearts smiled bravely through their tears. The soldiers saw only the smiles and heard the laughs—most of them forced—and then many of the women broke down and wept quietly.

Lieut. Colonel J. R. Kingham was at the head of his battalion. His mother, Mrs. G. H. Kingham, for the second time in 25 years saw her only son go away in uniform. The colonel's wife and their two youngsters, Ian, 7, and Sheila, 4, were there too.

"That's the second time I've said goodbye like this to that boy," said his cousin, Mrs. Aubrey Kent.

Heads of the two other Scottish battalions—Lieut. Col. Walter Bapty of the 2nd and Lieut. Col. Brooke Stephenson of the 3rd—were on hand to say, goodbye, as were Col. H. M. Urquhart, equestrian to the King, Lieut. Col. Vincent McKenna, commanding the 5th, and Lieut. Col. T. B. Monk, commandant of the New Gordon Head camp.

"Yes, I'd like to be going—but I'll be with them in Berlin," grinned Col. Monk.

NO MORE KILTS

Gone were the gay tartans of the Scot—only distinguishing marks were the Highlanders' caps and the lapel insignia. Only the pipers wore kilts. On their backs the men carried full kit—enamel mugs swinging as they marched. Despite threatening rain the men were no greatcoats.

"It's better to get wet on the outside than perspire on the inside," said Col. Kingham. As it was, the men were pretty hot when they reached town and mopped red, moist brows.

The men left singing "It's a Long Way to Tipperary," and "Pack Up Your Troubles." "It just breaks my heart to have him go—and yet I wouldn't have him stay when his King needs him," said a mother who had just bidden farewell to her boy, a clear-eyed, pink-cheeked lad in his late teens.

Old soldiers, itching to get going themselves, were the most cheerful. They said: "Give my love to old Hitler—I'll see you in Berlin. Go and see Kaiser Bill—I missed him last time."

One of the men carried a small black scottie; another had a tiny black and white fox terrier in his arms.

It was reveille at 3 for the Scot-ties. The notes of the first bugle had men tumbling out of their beds in high excitement. No one needed a second calling. Some of the men hadn't slept at all. The great plains of Macaulay were pitch black. Lamps moved about, like so many glow-worms, in the dark. A dreary rain fell lightly. The skirt of the pipes greeted the dawn that broke over the nearby sea.

The last breakfast was a hurried meal. Then came the final clean-up. Tents were cleared and made ready for the next detachment of troops.

As the first light broke in the east—about 6—the men moved in platoons to the central parade ground. There was no long wait. Col. Kingham briefly called out final orders—eyes left at the reviewing stand outside the Empress Hotel—eyes right at the war memorial.

Led by their pipe band, the men moved smartly off. It was nearly bright then and the first group of wives and mothers had arrived. With the band marched Pipe-Major Alex Wallace, in "civies." He had taught the men to play the pipes and now they were leaving him. But the veteran marched smartly and up-rightly all the way to town. In the front line, too, was "Wallace," the battalion's massive mascot.

Up the long hill to Esquimalt Road the men marched, singing as they went. Sleepy heads popped out of doors and windows to wave goodbye.

"We'll sure miss you—come back soon," cried a lady, her hair in curls.

The men marched over the Johnson Street bridge and there a knot of people had gathered. There, too, the long line of soldiers was joined by the brass band of the 3rd Battalion, Canadian Scottish, and the band of the Rainbow Sea Cadets. Farther along the line was the pipe band of the 2nd Battalion.

CARRIED HIS BABY

By this time wives and sweethearts had begun marching with their men. One young lance-corporal carried his month-old daughter in his arms, kissing her fondly every few minutes.

Up Yates and down Government went the khaki line. Outside the Empress Hotel Brigadier C. V. Stockwell and R. W. Mayhew, M.P., took the salute. A detachment of soldiers from Work Point formed a guard of honor. The men marched through the curved driveway of Parliament Square and then fell out to mingle with their families and friends.

If good wishes mean anything the "Scotties" will bear charmed lives. Colonels and major talked informally and laughed and joked with privates. Colonels' ladies admired the small children of sergeants and corporals. It was a big family party, tinged with sadness and tears, reminiscences of the last war and lots of good advice.

"MA" REMEMBERS

"Now ma, remember what you promised," said a beaming private, as his mother kissed him farewell. She remembered, and there wasn't a tear—until he had gone.

When the final "fall-in" order came, there was a mad scramble towards the men. Everyone crowded round them and they were forced to march single file.

Each Axis Partner Wants Help From Other

Hitler-Duce Talks Seen As Weakness Sign by British

NEW YORK (AP)—The first British comment on the conference Hitler and Mussolini held in the Brenner Pass today, as heard by the Columbia Broadcasting System from the British short-wave, was that "apparently the dictators are having difficulties."

"At this moment, Hitler and Mussolini are meeting to discuss war problems," the announcer said.

"Apparently the dictators are trying to find some way out of difficulties."

"It seems that each of the axis partners wants to get help from the other one—and both want to discuss ways and means of keeping the United States out of their fight with Great Britain."

Position of U.S. Important Factor

ROME (AP)—Usually well-informed Italian sources hinted that relations between the Rome-Berlin axis and the United States were under discussion today when Mussolini and Hitler conferred at length in the Brenner Pass. After a three-hour conference the pair parted, leaving Brenner at 2:40 p.m. (4:40 p.m. P.S.T.).

Also under consideration, a Fascist authority indicated, were plans for extension of the war against Britain on all fronts—including Egypt.

Gayda Claims Leaders Confident

In Il Giornale d'Italia Virginia Gayda, Fascist editorial spokesman, wrote that Hitler and Mussolini are so certain of victory they can now begin drafting "the great constructive lines of their new Europe and African edifice."

"The new points" decided by the axis leaders at their Brennero meeting today, Gayda asserted, "are destined to affect deeply the course of the war and the political and economic evolution of the continents into which the war of the axis more directly cuts."

The editor declared "the world may be sure" that the two dictators "do not move only for formal meetings."

Writers Admit War May Be Long

Other sections of the Italian press stressed the possibility of a long war and claimed Germany and Italy were bringing their production facilities to a peak of efficiency, determined to fight Britain to a finish.

The conference between the Axis partners, who met in the same Alpine setting last March 18, took place in an armored train on the Italian side of the frontier. Anti-aircraft guns were drawn up around the meeting place.

Present were the Italian and German foreign ministers, Ciano and Ribbentrop. In Hitler's retinue were Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the Nazi high command; Hans von Mackensen, ambassador to Rome; Dr. Otto Dietrich, press chief, and the Fuehrer's personal and military adjutants. In Mussolini's entourage were Dino Alfieri, ambassador to Berlin; General Nacchi and cabinet officials.

Russia Outside Discussion Range?

Without disclosing the precise topics under discussion, an Italian source said the talks did not concern Soviet Russia, Spain or a peace move. In reply to a direct question he said it was possible the leaders were discussing the relations of the Axis toward the United States in line with the whole war perspective.

Officials did not deny reports that Ciano and Ribbentrop might confer with Premier Molotov of Soviet Russia after the Brennero meeting, but said nothing was known of this possibility in Rome.

Although Ramon Serrano Sumer, Spanish interior minister, remained in Rome, Fascists said he would have no further conferences with Mussolini—thus apparently emphasizing Spain's exclusion from the subjects under discussion at Brennero.

Spain's position as a non-belligerent has been settled for the time being, it was indicated.

In line with Italian press comment on the possibility of a long war, authoritative sources emphasized that the campaign in Egypt would require special preparation and that a lightning campaign was not to be expected.

Marshall Graziani, commander of the Italian forces in Egypt, was reported in foreign circles to be in Rome awaiting Mussolini's return to confer on the African campaign.

'All Problems' Declared Discussed

BRENNERO, Italy (AP)—A brief communique issued here this afternoon said:

"Within the framework of the ordinary exchange of ideas, Il Duce and the Fuehrer met today at Brenner for a cordial reunion conducted with the sphere of the axis."

"The two chiefs during three hours examined in the presence of Foreign Minister Count Ciano and Von Ribbentrop all the problems confronting the two countries."

"Conversations then were continued during lunch at which the two foreign ministers took part." (See New York Times story on Spain on Page 2.)

Weser Makes Port; Crew Interned

A WEST COAST CANADIAN PORT (Passed by Censor)—The German speed freighter Weser arrived at this port at 2 this afternoon with a prize crew aboard. She was under naval escort.

The Weser, which since the outbreak of war has been dodging in and out of ports along the South American and Mexican coasts, was seized a week ago last Wednesday off Manzanillo, Mexico, as she was endeavoring to escape to sea. The Weser slipped out at night without getting official clearance from the port authorities at Manzanillo.

The Weser, which had considerable fuel oil aboard, was endeavoring to escape and act as a parent ship to German submarines. She was pounced upon so quickly by a Royal Canadian cruiser that she was unable to go through the customary German naval procedure of scuttling herself. Quickly the cruiser and seamen from the cruiser went aboard and took charge.

The Weser was manned by 58 officers and men, and when they arrived here they were immediately placed in shore custody. As they came ashore they were photographed. It is the first time since the outbreak of war that a prize ship has been brought to a west coast port and the first time a seizure has been carried out on the high seas singlehanded by a Canadian man-of-war.

SLOWED UP A LITTLE

The exact time of arrival of the Weser was a closely-guarded secret. Owing to the fact that she had not been in drydock for nearly two years, and her bottom had been badly fouled from a long spell in tropical waters, the Weser was not able to hit her regular speed of 17 knots, which made her one of the fastest freighters afloat.

Naval authorities made no announcement as to what will be done with the Weser, but she will undoubtedly be prepared for early service. A number of coast ports wanted to have the Weser placed on exhibit in order to raise funds for the Red Cross, but it was pointed out the value of the ship to Empire service is too great to have her tied up for sightseeing.

R.A.F. Rakes Holland, Sinks Nazi Ship

LONDON (CP)—The Air Ministry issued the following communique:

"Today our bombers carried out daylight attacks on various objectives on the enemy-occupied coast of Holland."

The Admiralty announced tonight that naval planes had "successfully attacked" two German supply ships in Norwegian waters, sinking one and leaving the other on fire.

One British plane was lost when a "superior force of enemy fighters" attacked the unit returning from this raid. A communique said a 2,000-ton vessel was sunk in Bjerne Fjord, south of Bergen, and a ship of 4,000 to 5,000 tons alongside the jetty at Haugesund "left heavily on fire in both the fore and after holds."

The following communique was issued on the German radio over Britain:

"No large scale enemy activity has developed today, but during the morning and early afternoon a number of single enemy aircraft flying in the clouds scattered small numbers of bombs haphazardly mainly over the southeast of England."

German coastal guns on the French shore had picked a British convoy out of the murky dawn on the Strait of Dover and raked the ships with booming salvos.

Shells splashing the water of the Strait about houses on the Kent shore. It was not disclosed in London whether the Germans scored any hits, but it was said that the convoy, tugging its own anti-aircraft balloons, hurried, alarmed on around the coast, past the Cap Gris Nez promontory where the German guns fired.

Quake Losses in Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Several buildings were destroyed or damaged by a series of earthquakes which shook Chile's northern provinces early today, the ministry of the interior announced.

The shocks, apparently strongest in the region of Iquique, were felt intermittently over a period of six hours.

No reports have been received of any casualties.

LONDON (CP)—The King received new members of the government at Buckingham Palace today and then attended a meeting of the Privy Council.

Italians Bitter At Spain's Action

NEW YORK (CP)—The New York Times today published an account of conditions in Spain, obtained from a traveler who has just been through that country, in which it was said the Italians are bitter at Gen. Franco for keeping Spain out of the war.

The traveler said he was "not yet convinced that Germany is particularly anxious to have Spain in the war." He continued: "Germany has her troops at the frontiers; she has her agents throughout Spain and is gradually strengthening her grip over the government... but Spain is a valuable source of supply and means of communication as a nonbelligerent, while if she gets into the war she will be a weak ally."

FLEET SKULKS
The Italians are bitter, however, he said, because "their fleet cannot keep the sea against the British, and they desperately need Spanish help in closing the Strait of Gibraltar."

Roosevelt Knows Axis Want U.S. To Defeat Him

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt quoted today a newspaper dispatch saying that "the Axis is out to beat President Roosevelt" when asked at a press conference whether he had "any reason to believe Germany and Italy are working for your defeat in the election."

The news article was a New York Times dispatch from Rome. Mr. Roosevelt quoted from the story in reply to the question.

When, after the quotation, he was asked whether he had "any reason to believe the story was true," the President replied he was just quoting the press back at reporters.

The quotation read by Mr. Roosevelt said:

"Moreover, the Axis is out to defeat President Roosevelt, not as a measure of interference in the internal policies of the United States but because of the President's foreign policy and because of everything which he stands for in the eyes of the Italians and Germans."

No Butter in Rome

ROME (AP)—Roman restaurants were forbidden to serve butter, either separately, in sandwiches or in any other form. In Milan, charges were brought against 697 merchants accused of profiteering on foodstuffs.

Reds Criticize U.S.

MOSCOW (AP)—The United States lacks both arms and troops, the Soviet army organ Red Star said today in a review of recent United States military maneuvers. Training of personnel is the weakest spot in the United States army, it added.

AID FOR BRITAIN

Mr. Roosevelt also read a section of the story which said that "as far as the United States is concerned, the Axis is interested primarily in keeping it out of the war and trying to prevent or minimize its help to Great Britain."

A reporter told the President there seemed to be some doubt the United States was giving all the aid of war to Great Britain which had been promised.

In regard to production, Mr. Roosevelt said it was a matter that should be taken up with William S. Knudsen of the National Defence Commission. He did say, however, things were being speeded up all they could.

As a general proposition, Mr. Roosevelt added, it was not true to state Great Britain was not receiving all aid short of war. He said he could not make the same remark with reference to specific items, however.

BARRIE RENTS CUT BY CONTROLLER

BARRIE, Ont. (CP)—Mr. Justice W. M. Martin, rentals administrator, today concluded a two-day hearing of complaints against wartime increases in house rents in this town, close to Camp Borden. It was the first hearing since the judge became rent controller.

He next will hold sittings in Parry Sound and, late next week, in Brandon, Man.

During the Barrie sessions, he reminded tenants and landlords in controlled areas that special permission had to be obtained from him before rents higher than those of last January 2 could be charged.

Typical adjustments made were a reduction from $40 to $35 for a seven-room apartment which rented for $30 last January 2, reduction from $35 to $20 for a house formerly renting for $20, reduction from $30 to $25 for a house recently purchased for $2,100 cash.

FIGHT IN MINE

Magistrate C. H. Beevor Potts in the Nanaimo police court yesterday fined two Northfield miners, Mike Milich and John Hilton, $10 each and costs, or, in default, seven days, for quarreling while at work underground, contrary to the special rules of the British Columbia Mines Regulations.

The magistrate pointed out the seriousness of the charge, saying that it was possible to impose a fine as high as $100, and that authorities would not stand for such conduct in the mines.

Japan Ready for Finish Test With U.S., Declares Premier

TOKYO (AP)—Domei, Japanese news agency, quoted Premier Konoye tonight as saying that "whether the Pacific will become the scene of war or peace solely depends on whether Japan and the United States will respect and understand each other's position."

In an interview at Kyoto with the Japanese press the premier urged the United States to reconsider her previous position and "positively cooperate with axis construction of a new world order."

"Nevertheless should the United States deliberately refuse to understand the true intentions of Japan, Germany and Italy and consider the triple alliance hostile to herself and challenge the axis nations, the axis would be ready to accept such a challenge and fight to the finish," Konoye said.

Want to Arrange Affairs With Russia

The premier added that efforts would be continued to adjust relations between Japan and Russia, although he reiterated Japan firmly opposed Communism and would not allow propagation of it in the Orient.

"Adjustment of diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union does not signify acceptance of Communism," he declared. "I intend to increase efforts to minimize friction between Japan and the Soviet Union."

The premier emphasized that the Pact of Berlin was not intended as a challenge to any other power and that the axis was prepared to recognize the leading position of the United States in the Americas, provided the United States reciprocated as to Europe and the Far East.

ITALIANS MOVE TO GREEK BORDER

ATHENS (AP)—Italian army forces in Albania, totaling 130,000 men and 120 tanks, have shifted their positions to new posts near the Greek frontier in the past few days, official sources said today.

Troop movements from Italy to Albania, Italy's recently acquired territory in the Balkans, have been frequent recently, and numerous ships are available in the Adriatic to speed additional forces across the narrow sea, it is said.

Official sources, however, expressed belief that Italian strength in Albania still is under 200,000 men.

"All precautions have been taken by Greece against surprise from any quarter," official quarters declared.

The Fascist press several weeks ago voiced demands for a share of Greece's northern Epirus on behalf of Albania.

The Greek Army is on a basis of "permanent concentration." Border garrisons have been fully manned since the anti-Greek campaign in the Italian press became hottest more than a month ago.

The government decreed that all unoccupied houses in the country could be requisitioned should air raids force removal of populations from cities.

CHINESE BLAST BRIDGES TO HOLD TIN MINES—This railway bridge near Loakay, in Indo-China near Kwangai border was blown up by Chinese soldiers to impede further Japanese advances toward the rich tin deposits around Mengtze, China.

Recommendations By Defence Board

HALIFAX (CP)—The Canadian-American Joint Defence Board decided today on how, in its judgment, Canada and the United States should coordinate their defence responsibilities in the event of an attack on this continent's northeastern seaboard.

RUSSIAN-BRITISH PACT EXPECTED

LONDON (CP)—Negotiations for a trade agreement between Britain and Russia, whom some British sources described as the "great outsider" among the European powers since the signing of the German-Italian-Japanese pact, are likely to be resumed shortly, semi-official circles intimated today.

Ivan Maisky, Russian ambassador, conferred yesterday with Richard Butler, Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, on what authoritative quarters said was "the general political situation."

A Russian trade delegation has been in London for many weeks, and there have been sporadic efforts to negotiate a trade pact. Now that Japan is allied with the Axis powers, it is regarded as likely concerted attempts will be made in London and Moscow to reach some agreement.

VANCOUVER FLIER AWARDED D.F.C.

LONDON (CP)—Three members of the Royal Air Force's Canadian squadron were honored in a list of awards announced today.

Pilot Officer William McKnight of Calgary was given a bar for his Distinguished Flying Cross, while acting P.L.A. P. S. Turner of Toronto and Pilot Officer N. K. Stanfield of Vancouver were granted the D.F.C.

Stanfield is credited with destroying seven Nazis during engagements over Dunkerque and England. The citation said "he has exhibited excellent fighting qualities, initiative and marked powers of leadership."

Americans Expected To Leave Far East

SHANGHAI (AP)—A general withdrawal of United States women and children from the Far East, especially China, appeared probable today as the feeling grew among Americans that conflicting Japanese and United States policies in the Pacific are heading toward an eventual frontal collision.

Want to Arrange Affairs With Russia

The premier added that efforts would be continued to adjust relations between Japan and Russia, although he reiterated Japan firmly opposed Communism and would not allow propagation of it in the Orient.

"Adjustment of diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union does not signify acceptance of Communism," he declared. "I intend to increase efforts to minimize friction between Japan and the Soviet Union."

The premier emphasized that the Pact of Berlin was not intended as a challenge to any other power and that the axis was prepared to recognize the leading position of the United States in the Americas, provided the United States reciprocated as to Europe and the Far East.

Trade negotiations with the Netherlands East Indies were proceeding smoothly, the premier said, and "fairly favorable results are expected."

Konoye was on his way back to Tokyo after a formal journey to the grand shrine at Ise to report his recent assumption of the premiership to Amaterasu, the sun goddess, chief deity of the Japanese.

the Texas Oil Company had suggested to its employees that they send their families home as soon as accommodations were available. Similar action by the Standard Vacuum Oil Company was reported yesterday.

Toronto Gives Metal

TORONTO (CP)—A 10-day metal salvage campaign is to be conducted in Toronto October 9 to 19, and the city itself will do the major part of the work—the collecting.

Citizens are being advised to put all old metal ware, tin, copper, brass, aluminum, tires, tubes and rubber, in separate containers that week. They are then asked to put the containers out for removal on the regular garbage collection days and the city will do the rest. Proceeds are to go to the Red Cross and the British War Victims' Fund.

Expelled From Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile (CP)—The ministry of the interior has ordered the expulsion from Chile of a man identified as German-born Franz Friedrich Endrossat, who was charged with seeking to go to Canada with a British passport issued to an English resident of Chile. Police said Endrossat is known also as Tom Roach.

Osiris Sent Down Italian Destroyer

9 Enemy Subs Sunk

LONDON (CP)—An Italian destroyer and nine submarines—seven German and two Italian—have been sent to the bottom in recent weeks by British naval and air forces and others have been damaged, the Admiralty announced today as Nazi bombers returned to the attack on London after the quietest night of the 27 since air siege of this capital began.

The Admiralty's statement said: "The enemy has recently been having a greater measure of success in his U-boat attacks on merchant shipping than during the earlier stages of the war. This was to be expected after the collapse of France and the German seizure of the French Atlantic ports. "U-boats operating from the ports are able to spend a longer time on the ocean trade routes, than U-boats operating from the ports of Germany. "As has been the case during the previous periods of U-boat activity, losses have been inflicted on the enemy. "It has never been the policy of the Admiralty to announce successes against U-boats when they occur, or at regular intervals, since such announcements would be of operational value to the enemy. It is known, moreover, that the moral effect of the disappearance of a U-boat without indication of the cause of its loss is a potent factor among U-boat personnel. It should therefore not be assumed that we are not scoring successes when no announcements are made. "The Italian destroyer sunk was one of the Curtatone class. The British submarine Osiris torpedoed her September 22.

(The Italian high command communique of September 26 announced the loss of a torpedo boat in the Ionian Sea.)

The Curtatone class numbered four vessels fitted for minelaying. They have a displacement of 966 tons, or 1,190 tons fully loaded. Completed in 1922 and 1923, the vessels included the Calatafimi, the Castelfidardo, the Curtatone and the Monzambano.

This was the second success for the Osiris, which is commanded by Lieut.-Comdr. J. R. G. Harvey. It was announced on September 9 that while operating in Mediterranean waters the Osiris under the same commander sank an Italian supply ship of about 3,000 tons.

Weather Reduces Raids on England

LONDON (CP)—The Air Ministry and the Ministry of Home Security said in a communique today:

"Last night enemy activity over this country was on a smaller scale than of late. Weather conditions were very unfavorable.

"Attacks were almost entirely confined to the London area, but a few bombs were also dropped in other parts of southeast England. They were also dropped at two places in southwestern England.

"In the areas affected little damage was done and the number of casualties was very small."

The dirty weather over London sent German raiders home four hours before dawn. So low were the clouds that individual shellbursts could not be seen by Londoners.

Eleven outlying districts of London were bombed. It was reported, and the raiders found their way to 20 districts in other parts of England.

Despite a curious quiet along the Channel coast—the Dover area was bombless for the first time in 41 days and observers failed to note the customary explosions caused by Royal Air Force raids on German "invasion ports" in France—R.A.F. fighters chased overcame weather handicaps sufficiently to bomb a number of points in German-held territory.

Even before the last of the Nazi raiders over London had turned for their home bases early today there were two brief periods of quiet. It was the first time since the air attack started 27 nights ago that the all clear had sounded twice between dusk and dawn.

Most Londoners refused to believe their ears and remained in their shelters.

The raiders struck at a small village near an ancient castle in southeastern England; others were reported over a town in Wales.

The light raids of the night followed one of the heaviest series of daylight raids since the war began. The invaders struck repeatedly at the industrial Midlands and hovered over London all through the day, dropping their bombs through a fog which hid them from the anti-aircraft gunners.

GERMAN STATEMENT

BERLIN (AP)—In a communique the German high command said: "Retaliatory raids on London and attacks on war-essential objectives in southern and central England were successfully continued despite bad weather.

"A high flame shot from a gas works in northwestern London following a bomb explosion. Battleplanes with special skill attacked two armament plants in Coventry and near Chester.

"Direct hits on both plants destroyed assembly halls and machines. Similarly successful raids were directed against several airports around London as well as against an airport in the Saint Eval country, in Cornwall, where hangars, barracks, runways and airplanes were destroyed on the ground.

"A bomb raid on a fliers' camp at Sheerness was especially effective.

"Direct hits were scored on assembled troops and a number of barracks were fired.

"Single German fighting planes attacked with noticeable successes railway transports north of London and dispersed truck columns.

"Yesterday's total losses of the foe were three planes. Four of our own planes have not returned.

"Fighting planes commanded by 1st Lieut. Newman and Lieut. Bischoff were distinguished by special audacity during raids on central England armament plants."

CRITICIZES HALIFAX

He criticized Viscount Halifax, British Foreign Secretary, and "halfhearted property owners," asserting: "The man I want to see go is Halifax, the quintessence of what all patriotic English-speaking men should be afraid of. I have a feeling, being a British citizen, that I have never been so misrepresented as by my present foreign minister.

"I should think if Halifax would make the peace it would be a very unsound one, because of his religious bias against Russia. Russia is absolutely necessary for any settlement of the war. Russia wants peace and does not want to spend her resources in warfare."

THREE LINERS IN

The Scythia brought 808 passengers, of whom 260 were children, including 90 youngsters coming under the auspices of the United States Committee for the Care of European Children.

Also in were the Cunarder Samaria, with 811 passengers, including 250 children, and the Furness-Princess liner Western Prince, with 101 passengers, 37 of them children.

The Samaria had an exciting voyage, having been one of eight ships conveyed by four destroyers, which were believed to have sunk some German submarines—"at least two," passengers said.

NO DAMAGES

OTTAWA (CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada has allowed the appeal of the Canadian Northern Pacific Railway Co. against a judgment in favor of Peter Chesworth of Victoria for damages arising out of a level crossing accident.

Chesworth was awarded judgment for $5,955 for injuries suffered by himself and for the death of his wife in the accident after lengthy litigation in the British Columbia courts. By allowing the appeal of the railway company the Supreme Court dismissed Chesworth's action.

The accident occurred in August, 1938, when Chesworth and his wife were passengers in an automobile driven by Ric. rd Valentine which was struck by a train at the Colwood crossing near Victoria.

Great Britain has about 10,000 private schools, with 970,000 pupils.

SAYS 2 INVASION ALARMS IN BRITAIN

NEW YORK (CP)—Vincent Sheean, foreign correspondent, is of the opinion two invasion alarms were sounded along the English Channel coast in the past six weeks, "bringing the army and navy springing to their stations" and causing release of a chemical fog screen.

(Previous reports of German attempts at invasion have been denied by the British government. A spokesman on one occasion said there would be no point in Britain attempting to hide the fact if Germans had been beaten off.

(There have been rumors that a number of German troop barges were sunk off the French coast by the Royal Air Force and Royal Navy while practicing landing and unloading operations.)

Sheean, who arrived back in the United States by clipper yesterday, said he believed the first alarm was sounded August 25 and the second September 7.

"I heard and I believe that chemical fog was used during the August 25 alarm," he said. "Of course, I don't know whether or not there were any actual attempts to land German troops in England."

Sheean said property damage in London from air raids is "terrific," but military damage has not been so heavy.

'Smokes' of Alaska Reported Dwindling

ANCHORAGE (AP)—Alaska is running out of smokes. Two government investigators who returned from an inspection trip to the Valley of 10,000 Smokes, reported today there are only five smokes left.

The investigators, Frank T. Been, superintendent of McKinley Park, and Victor H. Culhane, National Park Service wild-life superintendent, also discovered that a beautiful lake, similar to Crater Lake in Oregon, has been formed in the crater of Mount Katmai, on the Alaskan Peninsula.

It was Mount Katmai that started all the fuss June 6, 1912, when it erupted and showered an ash blanket a foot deep on Kodiak Island, 100 miles distant, and spread a film observable as far away as southern British Columbia. The eruption set loose not only 10,000 smoking peaks, but countless jets of steam from vents in the valley floor, ranging from tiny cracks to craters 150 feet in diameter.

Edmonton Flier Killed

EDMONTON (CP)—Squadron Leader John Walter Dallimore of the Royal Air Force was killed in action over Egypt on Wednesday, his parents, Major and Mrs. J. H. Dallimore, have been informed in a cable from the British air ministry.

He was born here 27 years ago, and educated here, graduating from the University of Alberta in 1935 with a degree in mining engineering. He joined the Royal Canadian Air Force on his graduation and after a year at Camp Borden, Ont., went to England and joined the R.A.F.

On May 4, he was married at Cairo to Miss Margaret Reid of Edmonton.

Imports Increase

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's imports soared in August to $96,836,000 from $62,708,000 in the same month last year, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports. During the first eight months of this year imports totaled $682,433,000, compared with $441,767,000 in the same period last year.

August purchases from the United States amounted to $67,572,000 compared with $39,384,000, and from the United Kingdom $15,494,000 compared with $10,675,000.

Admit Bombing

BERLIN (AP)—The German news agency has admitted it was a German plane which dropped bombs on Ireland recently and said the Nazi government would express regret to the government of Eire and offer compensation.

The agency said an investigation showed the bomber lost its bearings and dropped explosives on Irish soil by mistake.

(The most recently recorded bombs dropped on Eire fell August 26 at Campile, on the south-eastern coast, killing three girls.)

Chutists for U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Formation of the United States army's first parachute battalion with a strength of approximately 500 volunteers has been announced by Henry Stimson, War Secretary. The new unit is designated the 501st Parachute Battalion.

Apples for Export

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP)—Permit to pack for possible export 750,000 boxes of apples has been obtained from the Dominion government by British Columbia Tree Fruits Ltd., according to A. K. Loyd, general manager of the selling agency.

The total will be comprised of 50,000 boxes of Rome Beauties, 50,000 Staymen, 250,000 McIntosh and 400,000 boxes of Delicious, Newtons and Winesaps.

In addition to that amount, tentative agreement has been reached with Ottawa to can 250,000 boxes of Jonathans, providing arrangements can be made here to do the work at a required minimum cost.

Sales Expand

OTTAWA (CP)—Efforts of Canada to increase exports to South America, now that European markets have been cut off, was met with success and an increase of 70 per cent is shown in the nine months of this year against the year before.

The greatest increase has been in newspaper, official sources say. Exports this year from Canada and Newfoundland are expected to run 200,000 tons as compared with 67,000 tons last year.

Chemical industry in Greece is reported to be hampered for want of raw materials, formerly imported.

Not all BUSINESS IS BIG BUSINESS

A LITTLE steam lifts the lid of your tea-kettle. A lot of steam drives trains, machinery. Your bank deposit may be little, but it combines with millions of others to make a lot of "steam". It helps to run the nation's machinery of production, marketing, employment, business. It is important indeed to the country's war financing and war-time effort. The money is yours yet it helps provide the credit necessary to move the goods and services of the nation. Canada's chartered banks thus perform functions of great usefulness. They receive the deposits of millions of Canadians, and extend credit to individuals, governments, businessmen and marketing organizations. The small depositor is important to the banks. The "little fellow", popularly so-called, is welcomed by any bank, as a customer.

In war, as in peace, Canada's Chartered Banks maintain, uninterrupted, their useful services—safeguarding depositors' funds; facilitating the nation's business—looking forward to peace with freedom as the only sure basis of enduring prosperity.

At Brennero Again

ARE WE TO READ INTO TODAY'S meeting of Hitler and Mussolini at historic Brennero an explanation of the failure of Joachim von Ribbentrop and Count Galeazzo Ciano to persuade Spain to throw in her lot with the axis powers? The question is pertinent in view of the fact that the totalitarian press in its best propagandist style has explained to the Nazi and Fascist public that the circumstances are not opportune for Generalissimo Francisco Franco to play his part in the defeat of Britain. All in good time, German and Italian newspapers are still trumpeting the nation which demands the return of Gibraltar will strike its blow for Europe's "new order."

German "authorized sources" tell us, however, that the doings in the Brennero Pass shadow big events. But the same sources startle us with the announcement that the meeting was revealed prematurely, that any movement of the Fuehrer is a strict military secret, and that a repetition of the publicity which preceded the conference might invoke German espionage law and so draw foreign newspaper correspondents into its net with other persons suspected of its breach. This warning is followed with the reminder that when Hitler and Mussolini talk face to face—this is the sixth of such meetings—axis action follows rapidly.

The publicity reference, of course, will be taken seriously by nobody. Both dictators know that when they are on the move to meet one another the fact cannot be kept secret. If it could, the last information the totalitarian censors would permit to leak out would be that admitting failure to maintain the screen of secrecy. At the same time, the Brennero incident today may not be without its significance, if only because it was one of those meetings which usually cast their shadows before coming events. Some part of the chat, for example, may have had to do with Hitler's invasion of Britain, Mussolini's program for an engagement with the British fleet, a passing reference to such insignificant countries as the United States and Soviet Russia, with their trifling combined population of 300,000,000!

Whatever the two dictators discussed, whatever action they may have decided to take, they no longer can spring on Great Britain or on her nonbelligerent friends any element of surprise which will affect the general determination to remove the menace of world domination from the apostles of totalitarianism. Both Germany and Italy already have told their respective peoples that a long war is ahead of them. Uncomfortable as this prospect is for the Reich—whose populace has now seen war from its own doorstep—it must be much more distasteful for Italy. To the British Empire, then, today's incident in the Brennero Pass is—just another incident.

What Will He Say?

MR. NEVILLE CHAMBERLAIN'S RESIGNATION from the leadership of the National Conservative Party of Great Britain already has suggested to some partisan minds that Mr. Churchill will automatically accept his predecessor's mantle immediately it is offered to him. Students of British politics, however, will hesitate to accept such an easy solution for the future of the Conservatives' overwhelming following in the House of Commons. The present Prime Minister, admittedly, represents the Essex constituency of Epping as a Conservative. He was an unsuccessful Conservative aspirant for Oldham in 1899; he won the riding in 1900; from 1904 to 1908 he represented North-west Manchester as a Liberal Free Trader, and, under that banner, Dundee from 1908 to 1922. Then he became Independent, and Conservative again; but as a Conservative he became the bitter critic of the Baldwin as well as the Chamberlain regimes.

Although Mr. Churchill wears the Conservative label, he is a political rebel—and we mean that in the best sense of the term—inasmuch as he acts his public course only as he interprets public interest. Not that he has always shone as an expert interpreter. But in times of crisis, when decisions of great moment have been the basic demand of the hour, he has almost invariably risen nobly to the occasion. He crossed the floor of the House of Commons in 1904 to fight against the tariff proposals of Mr. Neville Chamberlain's father. He became the champion of no interference with the poor man's breakfast table—no tax on imported food stuffs. That was his creed for years; when protectionist formulas began to make their appearance in the postwar years he found himself under a political cloud. One of these days we may know more intimately what he thought of some aspects of domestic and foreign policy during the period which saw the eclipse of the Labor Party and the return of the party against whose fundamental policies—which have not changed materially—no rally so eloquently and effectively in one of the great testing times of Britain's evolutionary processes.

Mr. Churchill today is the inspiring leader of a nation which is witnessing a most astounding social revolution—a revolution that must appear to be the end of all things to the implacable Tory mind, and anathema to the average Conservative whose party so completely dominates the House of Commons at Westminster. Granted, this is a time of national emergency, a time to disregard all semblance of party adhesion. But Mr. Churchill is a very remarkable man, not only remarkable as a parliamentarian in the accepted sense of the term, but a man with a giant intellect and a philosophy beside which political labels pale into insignificance. Hence we fear that those who expect him to don a large size party emblem while surrounded by a cabinet whose personnel would make popular idols like Cobden and Bright and Gladstone rub their eyes in amazement, may be in for some disillusionment. For how, if names mean anything at all—if they reflect the innermost feelings of the man to whom the world is looking with such hope and confidence—can Mr. Churchill reaffirm his belief in the very Conservatism which he tore to shreds when the great mass of the British people denounced the party and all its works in those days to which we have referred? Conditions which prevailed prior to September 3, 1939, political and economic, will never return.

Well! Well!

WE HAD ALREADY WRITTEN ABOUT the Brennero Pass meeting of the two dictators when a dispatch arrived from Rome reporting that Signor Virginio Gayda, Mussolini's journalistic spokesman, is assured that the Duce and Hitler are so certain of victory they can now begin drafting "the great constructive lines of their new Europe and the African edifice." For good measure, the Fascist editor tells us that "the new points" decided upon by the axis leaders "are destined to affect deeply the course of the war and the political and economic evolution of the continents into which the war of the axis more directly cuts." Finally: "The world may be sure" that the two dictators "do not move only for formal meetings."

We are not told what Mr. Churchill, President Roosevelt, or M. Stalin are supposed to do now. There is no hint as to the role Greece, Turkey, Bulgaria, Egypt, or the people in the occupied countries, are expected to play. But if the axis partners are "so certain of victory" as Signor Gayda says they are, the least they can do is to put the world out of its suspense by completing the job. But is there not in all this the faint cry of panic from Berlin and Rome—Berlin because the battle of Britain is no nearer a German victory than it will ever be, Rome because Italians know this, and know also that Graziani and his men in Africa are far from happy over their prospects? And they must know, too, that Spain has refused to use the stiletto so far.

Strange News From Tokyo

ONE OF TOKYO'S NEWSPAPERS YES-terday published a letter objecting to the lack of interest in the signing of the alliance between Japan, Germany and Italy, the writer complaining that "people read the big news indifferently, as though it were three other countries." And another dispatch from the Japanese capital—as if to try to stir up enthusiasm for the two "new orders" the axis powers expect to establish in the Occidental and Oriental worlds—quoted Mōji Sakamoto, a former counsellor at Nippon's embassy in Rome, on his return to Tokyo with the remark that Spain would "probably" go into the war on the side of Japan, Germany and Italy immediately prior to any Nazi attempt to invade Britain.

Perhaps the Japanese people as a whole have reached a stage at which a reaffirmation, in any form, of a condition they already knew existed has little more interest for them now than it had, for example, six months or a year ago. What must have been impressed firmly on their minds, however, is the fact that the quick victory the Japanese soldiery promised to score over China is as far removed from reality as it was three years ago. Such a victory, of course, would be "the big news." Spain's probable entry into the war on the side of the axis powers, as considered by Mr. Sakamoto, is still probable; but even he no doubt felt sure in suggesting that such a decision on the part of Generalissimo Francisco Franco would necessarily have to be reached before the Nazis begin their invasion of the British Isles. For that undertaking also—like the collapse of Chiang Kai-shek's armies—seems far off.

They think that Joe Stalin, who was to hold the Fuehrer's coat during the fight, may be trying it on for size.

RISKS THAT MUST BE TAKEN

From Richmond Times-Dispatch
President Roosevelt's action in embargoing all shipments of scrap iron to Japan, seems justified. The Japanese empire in the Far East stands at approximately the same stage of development as did the Nazi empire in 1936. Timid governments in Britain and France failed to stop Hitler, when he marched into the Rhineland in that year, although stopping him would have been easy. Today Japan seems far more vulnerable than she is apt to be again, if she is permitted to win the war with China and seize the Dutch East Indies. Fairly simple measures, such as embargoes of scrap iron and oil—the latter not yet resorted to—could cripple her war machine severely, and possibly cause her defeat in China.

It may be that embargoes will merely serve to arouse Japan's ire, without actually causing her war machine to crack. It may be, too, that the pressure which Hitler is putting on the Japanese to line up with the axis, will produce results, and that by placing these embargoes on shipments to Japan, Mr. Roosevelt is forcing a showdown in the Far East which will lead to the spread of the war, and to our involvement. These are risks which must be taken, if any sort of strong policy vis-a-vis Tokyo is to be adopted by Washington. But unless such a policy is adopted, it is difficult to see how Japan is ever to be stopped.

OUT OF BALANCE

SOMETHING WILL HAVE TO BE DONE about Canada's trade with the United States, and it will have to be drastic. Before another year is out this country will find it necessary to stop buying many American peacetime goods, unless the present balance of trade changes completely or the United States starts to loan us money.

The latest official figures reveal a trading situation which can hardly go on much longer. In the first half of this year we lost about $100,000,000 in our trade with the United States. We paid the Americans that much more than they paid us.

In peacetime it was easy enough to carry such an unfavorable balance, because of our huge sales to Britain. We could convert our British pounds into American dollars. Now we cannot get British pounds. We have to find the $100,000,000 in other markets—most of which have dried up—out of our reserves, and perhaps, eventually, by liquidation of our holdings of American securities.

WORSENING

The second half of the year will show a worse picture. We may easily go down $200,000,000, making a total deficit in the year of about $300,000,000. We cannot avoid that, on the present basis of trade, because we have to buy more and more war materials from our neighbors. But, obviously, we cannot go on carrying such a deficit, and finding 300,000,000 new American dollars every year, outside of our sales in the United States.

As we cannot reduce our war purchases but will increase them, the only alternative is to reduce our purchases of peacetime goods. Normally we buy $400,000,000 worth of goods from the United States, but the war has forced us to increase this figure enormously. In the first half of this year we bought $338,000,000 as against $205,000,000 in the same period a year ago. In our present imports are still huge quantities of peacetime goods—manufactured articles, food stuffs, coal. We can cut down these imports.

KIPLING'S 'THE PRAIRIE'

Lincoln Ellsworth, who has been looking around the mouth of the province with a view to buying a ranch there, knew Alberta well long before he became a distinguished explorer and flier. The Edmonton Journal says he revealed to a Calgary newspaperman recently that he went down the Peace in a dug-out canoe in 1902 and then worked on a G.T.P. survey through the Yellowhead.

The way Ellsworth feels about this part of the country is shown by the fact that he carries around with him a typewritten copy of Kipling's "The Prairie." The wonder is that a poem which expresses, as no other has ever done, what it is that makes people love the western plains of Canada, should not be more familiar than it is to those who have their homes here. How can any of them, after once reading it, fail at this time of the year to recall the stanza that runs: I hear the summer storm outblown—the drip of the grateful wheat; I hear the hard trail telephone, a far-off horse's feet; I hear the horns of autumn blow to the wild fowl overhead; And I hear the hush before the snow. And what is that to dread?

The more abundant life: Just to show how the technique of making rubber tires has improved, seven casings per motorist were sold in the United States annually in 1916, as against only 1.22 today.

NO, NEVER!

Our Eternal Answer and Song

Who says England will be conquered? That she'll have to bend the knee To that upstart paperhanger, Devil's henchman though he be. With Her Empire rallied round Her England fights till Victory's won. Though Her foes shall come unnumbered She will rise with every sun.

Chorus

England never shall be conquered! England ever shall be Free! England will defend forever Truth and Peace and Liberty.

Let those Nazis try invasion— Let them come with all their can! They'll be "welcomed" by our soldiers— "By the Breed That Never Ran!" See our airmen chase the Jerries, Watch the Jerries chase the airmen, When a Royal Air Force Spitfire Blasts the Heinkel in the tail!

Chorus

What about our glorious Navy? Wondrous story yet to tell, How it marvelously protects us Day and night midst bombs and shell. Tirelessly it watches, fighting, Keeping clear the water path, Guiding ships to ports in safety, Despite the Baby Killers' wrath.

Chorus

We have faith in Winston Churchill— Good old Winston knows his stuff! Watch him checkmate Bloody Hitler, Balk his schemes, and call his bluff. Alleluia! Bless our Soldiers, Sailors, Airmen, all so brave. In the end they'll lick our enemies, And forever England save.

LUCKY BREAK

HAD GERMANY, Italy and Japan not made their bargain of last week, public opinion in the U.S. might long have remained confused as to what the dictators intend to do to the western hemisphere. Lindbergh and other paid or unpaid agents of the Nazis have been telling the Americans, over and over again, that the dictators were interested only in Europe. Lindbergh is not the first Nazi chore boy to have climbed out on a limb for the benefit of his Berlin friends, only to find that those same masters saved off the limb before there was any chance to climb back.

Whatever the U.S. decides to do or not to do, no one in that country will any longer have any excuse for uncertainty as to Nazi intentions. South America is publicly allotted to Spain as her proper sphere of reward for services rendered, or to be rendered in the immediate future.

It is probably in the Far East where the repercussions of the pact will be first felt. There could be no greater blunder than to assume that Japan will have everything her own way there. One false move and the United States navy might well do in a matter of days what all ranks in that fleet are convinced that they can do and will do—that is, blow the navy of Japan right out of the picture. This possibility will be accentuated if the Japanese move south, against the East Indies, for instance, and so place themselves within the circle of influence.

TURNING POINT IN HISTORY

From Toronto Star
The United States has reached a turning point in her history. Her policies are being directly challenged by brutality in east and west. Japanese tell her that war between Japan and the U.S. seems inevitable. Gayda, Mussolini's insolent spokesman, intimates that if the U.S. does not change her ways "she will be attacked from two continents" and that this would result in the loss of "all positions on the American continent and throughout the world held by the U.S." The boastful taunts of Japan and Italy do not alter the fact that those countries are making a show of strength behind a "brave" front which screens their precarious economic condition, the war weariness of their peoples and the inability of their war machines to operate for many months on a large scale unless they obtain new supplies of oil, iron, steel, rubber and other essential war commodities which are not in sight.

If Japan could seize the Dutch East Indies intact and Italy and Germany gain control of the Mesopotamian and Iran oil wells or persuade Russia to supply them liberally with war materials, the gangster combination would become much more formidable. As it is, the long view for the gangsters, provided the U.S. refuses to be intimidated, is gloomy and Hitler might well look grim as he did, rather than triumphant at today's ceremony in Berlin.

POSITION OF U.S.

Roosevelt is not likely to falter at this crisis in his career. Nor is it conceivable that the people of the United States would fail to give him their united support in this great hour. The President has urged Britain to befriend China. The U.S. embargo on iron and steel to Japan takes effect on October 16. Britain may re-open the Burma Road to Chinese war supplies on October 18. The U.S. had just given a $25,000,000 loan to China. Britain also may provide funds to Chiang Kai-shek. Washington is putting up $500,000,000 so that South American countries will trade with her rather than with the gangsters. The threat of the gangsters to make trouble for the U.S. in South America is being strongly countered.

AS CHAPLIN SEES HITLER

Charlie Chaplin in Look

"To me the funniest thing in the world can be the ridicule of phonies and stuffed shirts in high places. The bigger the phony you have to work on, the better chance you have for a funny picture—and it would be difficult to find another phony as big as Hitler. . . . Hitler, to me, beneath that stern and forbidding appearance he gives in newswells and news photos, actually is a small, mean and petty neurotic. Mussolini suggests an entirely different character—loud, noisy, boastful, a peasant at heart."

Better English

By D. C. WILLIAMS

1. What is wrong with this sentence? "At length he arrived and the entertainment began."

2. What is the correct pronunciation of "inquiry"?

3. Which one of these words is misspelled? Centrifugal, centarian, centenal.

4. What does the word "requisite" (adjective) mean?

5. What is a word beginning with s that means "hypocritically pious"?

Answers
1. Say, "At last (in the course of time) he arrived." He discussed the conditions at length (in full detail). 2. Pronounce in-kw-i, first and third r's as in, second s as in ice, accent second syllable. 3. Centennial. 4. Necessary. "Every work of art should contain within itself all that is requisite for its own comprehension." — Poe. 5. Sanctimonious.

More Attending Night Classes

A registration over 1,000 was forecast by George Anstey, director of Victoria's Night School, today following opening of 22 classes last night. Another two courses will start this evening and 10 more on Monday. The school leader indicated the enrolment would be somewhat higher than last year. Some classes, notably that studying navigation, were so full it would be necessary to divide them into two groups, Mr. Anstey said. On the other hand that in art appreciation showed a decline in membership which would result in elimination of the course unless more enrolment. All craft classes retained their popularity, attendance figures for last night disclosed. Numerous requests for a course in welding had led the authorities to seek co-operation of some commercial plant to secure equipment. Mr.

Anstey said. If suitable arrangements could be made, the class would be incorporated into the curriculum, he added. To assist those students wishing to take two courses at the same time the timetable this year has been arranged on a stagger system, affording those in one group free nights on which to study other subjects. Formation of a junior matriculation class is now under way and registrations will be accepted at the school board office or the High School. M.P.'s Message

Buy Canadian Goods To Help War Effort

"We can all help win this war by buying Canadian and British products and by cutting down on some of the less necessary things and using the money for the purpose of boosting Canada's war effort," said R. W. Mayhew, M.P., in an address before a meeting of the Oak Bay Liberal Association last night at the Oak Bay Theatre Hall. "We cannot win this war with saving and we cannot win this war without saving, that is to say we spend, but spend in Canada on Canadian goods," Mr. Mayhew continued. Ninety-five per cent of goods on merchants' shelves are Canadian-made products, he said. Ladies can go to town and be completely outfitted in Canadian-made clothes and shoes. Some are buying clothes made in other countries. They should buy Canadian and thus help the war effort. An effort should be made to cut down on gas consumption and entertainment costs. Canadians could supply their own entertainment. If they cut their drinking bill in two, and they should, they could put a substantial mercantile fleet on the ocean. "I mention these items so that they might, in some way, cause you to use a little more care in the future," Mr. Mayhew said. The speaker praised the work being done by Victoria in aid of the Lord Mayor's Fund and thanked Mayor McGavin and the aldermen for their support in this matter. He also spoke highly of the Red Cross accomplishments, of their constant duty to war sufferers. Regarding scrap iron, Mr. Mayhew said that there are 50,000 to 60,000 tons of scrap in British Columbia and this scrap should be used for the production of war materials. "What we need in the province is a man-sized steel foundry and a forging plant. I would like to see British Columbia on the same basis as anywhere else in Canada and standing on her own feet regarding war material production," he stated. The men at Ottawa are doing their utmost in the furthering of Canada's war effort. To say that they are complacent is wrong and anyone saying it should be put with their backs to the wall and shot, he said. Canadian factories can clothe and equip 1,200 army men a day. The navy will soon be up to a strength of 230 vessels. The auxiliary vessel Prince Robert was converted at a cost of $600,000 and had already made a prize that will cover that amount. "We in Ottawa have nothing to be ashamed of in what we have put into our war effort," the speaker concluded. Secretary Col. W. N. Winspy thanked Mr. Mayhew for his address. The meeting was presided over by G. N. Mowat, president.

Draft Group Here Get Call Notices

Victoria men of the 21-year-old class have now received their notices to report for military training next Wednesday to the new Gordon Head camp. The official draft notices are brief and to the point, instructing the recruits to report early Wednesday morning to the camp commandant, Lieut.-Col. T. B. Monk. The permanent staff is moving into the camp this week-end and will be ready to handle the recruits in one day. Approximately 1,000 men will train in the first draft at Gordon Head. Most of them will come from the mainland, but there will be 200 or 300 from Victoria and island points. In calling up the first draft military authorities have found very few who have to be turned back on account of bad health. They had expected to reject about 25 per cent of those notified to report for medical examinations. Dr. H. H. Christie, medical supervisor for the national war services department at Ottawa, said. But the proportion is much less than that. He instanced a sample 100 examinations in which only four were below the required standard. ASK EXEMPTION In British Columbia three religious organizations are asking exemption for their members from compulsory training. They are the Christadelphian Church of Canada, the Seventh Day Adventist Church and the Congregation of Christians. Requests for exemption have come from 15 conscientious objectors, some of whom are members of the Plymouth Brethren. The organizations who have asked exemptions, say their members are willing to go to camp for 30 days of non-combatant service as long as they do not have to wear uniforms. ALBERTA MEN AT NANAIMO The Southern Alberta Regiment, comprising 850 officers and men, Commanding Officer J. K. Carvoso, M.C., arrived in Nanaimo yesterday afternoon on the Princess Joan and, following a quick debarkation, marched to the military camp on Wakesiah Farm, one mile west of Nanaimo, where they will be in training with the D.C.O.R.'s, who arrived on Tuesday, making in all approximately 1,800 men under canvas there.

NEW YORK (AP)—The United States has asked—without result—that the French Vichy government recall to this country 50 American-made warplanes now at Martinique. This was disclosed by Gaston Henry-Haye, French ambassador, who said France was prevented from recalling the planes by terms of the armistice she signed with Germany. "It would naturally be to France's interest to sell them back to America," he said. "We paid some $7,000,000 to $9,000,000 for them, and these planes are now immobilized and of no use to us. They will soon deteriorate, and we could use the money they cost us."

Island Girls Enjoy Driving Transports in England

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND—Three young women from Vancouver Island now driving transports in England are convinced the time has arrived for organization of an all-Canadian women's auxiliary corps. The girls came overseas last February. They are Gladys Hindmarsh, former newspaper woman from Nanaimo and member of the Provincial I.O.D.E.; Peggy Moore of Duncan, and Kay Yeo of Parksville, B.C.

When they left their Canadian homes they had planned to link up with the First Canadian Division, but to their dismay discovered that war establishment made no provision for enlistment of women.

"That news came as a shock to us," Miss Moore declared. "After paying our passage across, we only had enough money to see us through for a couple of weeks. But we had no intention of quitting because we guessed wrong, so we joined up with the A.T.S. (Auxiliary Territorial Service)."

CORPS IN CANADA

It was Miss Hindmarsh who suggested formation of a Women's Auxiliary Corps in Canada.

"Whenever I meet Canadian administrative officers I hear the same story," she said. "They can't find enough experienced clerks, stenographers or general office workers among the men."

All three girls agreed their experiences with the British service had been "most interesting," and that they had been treated with every kindness and generosity. They spent seven weeks at a training depot where discipline was just as rigid as it is in the average soldiers' camp.

"And I'll tell you it was training," Miss Yeo remarked. "But it taught us a lot we didn't know before."

DAY IN TRAINING

Here is how they described a typical day at the training depot: Reveille at 6 a.m.; make beds, clean rooms and polish buttons; breakfast at 7; room inspection and prayers at 8; drill from 9 to 10.15; lectures until 11; when cocoa was served; physical training exercises at 11.15; lunch from 12.30 to 1.30; route march from 2 to 4, followed by tea and then a period of relaxation until dinner at 7; after dinner free time until 9.30, when "lights out" sounded.

The monthly meeting of the Florence Nightingale Chapter I.O.D.E. will be held at headquarters Monday at 2.30 p.m. Members having books they wish to donate to the I.O.D.E. book week for the services, are asked to bring them to this meeting.

Social and Personal

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Hamber entertained at a dinner party at Government House last evening in compliment to Senator and Mrs. J. H. King, who have recently returned to the city from Ottawa. Covers were laid for 24 at a table arranged with chrysanthemums, zinnias and other fall flowers in shades from flame to yellow. His Honor and Mrs. Hamber left on the midnight boat to fulfill a series of engagements in Vancouver and New Westminster over the week-end.

Miss Alice Salles of New Westminster came over to Victoria this morning to be one of the bridesmaids at the Pearce-Phillips wedding. She is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Newland Phillips, Cook Street.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Victor G. Meakin, who have been residing in Buenos Aires for several years, will be interested to know that Mr. Meakin is now a lieutenant in the Royal Canadian Navy at Halifax, N.S. Mrs. Meakin and their son, John, are also there and reside at 20 Morris Street. Mrs. Meakin was the former Etta Scott of Victoria.

A miscellaneous shower was given by Mrs. H. G. Anderson at "Lynwood," Davida Avenue, on Wednesday evening in honor of Mrs. Herbert White, formerly Mary Coleman. The rooms were prettily decorated with bronze and yellow chrysanthemums, and upon her arrival Mrs. White was presented with a corsage of carnations. Contests were enjoyed, the prizes being won by Mrs. E. Coleman and Miss Irene Clarke. A buffet supper was served from a prettily-decorated table of chrysanthemums. The invited guests were: Mesdames A. Coleman, E. Coleman, B. Cooper, F. E. Boulter, M. McLaughlin, C. McCrimmon and N. Hepburn and Misses Irene Clark, Marjorie Cooper, Laura Singleton, Adeline Hodgkinson and Margaret Smith.

Ottawa Society Sees Little of Princess Juliana

By RIDEAU BANKS

OTTAWA—An eight-year-old girl looked out from the drawing-room window of her home in Rockcliffe, fashionable residential district of this capital, the other day, and then turned to address excitedly a male partner in whom her confidence evidently knew no bounds.

"Daddy," she said, "there is that new lady neighbor of ours out walking again. Every time she goes out the same man follows her. I am sure he is annoying her. Shouldn't you do something about it?"

Not without some uneasiness over the price he might be expected to pay to maintain his young daughter's hero worship, the father responded to the extent of joining her at the window, then he smiled his relief.

"That, my dear," he explained, "is the Princess Juliana, and the man following her is simply one of her attendants whose duty it is to guard her."

READ QUIET LIFE

The anecdote is revealing in the light it throws upon the life of the exiled heiress to the throne of Holland. "Princess Juliana, despite her royal rank and the high element of woman drama that surrounds her, is probably the least known to the public of any celebrity in the capital here."

Although she has been a housewife in well-known products since the social registration of the capital here, the establishment "housewife" is surprisingly enough, actually little more than a cottage. It has, however, a picturesque situation, about half-way up a wooded hill, with a

Mrs. Alfred Wright, who has resided at Langford Lake for several years, left on Thursday for Calgary, where she will make her home.

Mr. Horace Johnson and Mr. Edward Johnson of Granite Bay, B.C., who are attending the Pacific Logging Congress, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Hinkley, Langford.

Miss Agnes O'Driscoll has returned to Vancouver after spending the last three weeks here with her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Edward McQuade, Rockland Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hulbert of San Francisco and Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Blake of Oakland, all of whom came up to Victoria for the Lefevre-Hulbert wedding, left yesterday on their return south.

Mrs. J. Milliken was hostess at a linen shower at her home on Pembroke Street on Wednesday evening for Miss Dorothy Brothers, who is to be married tomorrow to Corpl. Chas. F. Hagyard. A corsage bouquet of pink carnations was given to Miss Brothers upon her arrival and her mother, Mrs. A. G. Brothers, received pink roses. In compliment to the groom-elect, the rooms were decorated in an air-defence motif. Tiny planes hung from the ceiling in the living-room and between it and the dining-room floated a balloon barrage. The pretty gifts were concealed in the fuselage of a white plane. Prizes were given for bingo and for the guessing competition played during the evening. Refreshments were served from a table centred with a bride's cake, flanked by vases of Michaelmas daisies. The guests were Mesdames A. G. Brothers, W. F. Hagyard, B. Aaronson, L. B. Adams, E. Simmons, T. Taylor, Hardy, T. Milliken, H. Adams, Grant Jones, A. Houston, W. Milliken, H. Walker, Jarvis, and Misses Melba Mills, Jean, Isabel and Margaret Milliken.

Its chief attraction is a small garden of possibly a quarter of an acre. And it is upon this feature of the property that one of Europe's wealthiest crown ladies has a hobby interest that exiles has released in her. Most of the day, if the weather is favorable, she is to be seen tending, transplanting, or arranging a variety of blooms that, advanced though the season was when she arrived, has made her grounds almost a bit of old Holland recreated in Canada.

With her, sharing her interest in all that she does, toddlers her young daughter. Her young baby, less than a year old, is also usually in a crip year by, watched over by a lady-in-waiting.

NO TIME FOR SOCIETY

The Princess has taken no part whatever in Ottawa social life. She varies her life in her garden with her children by daily walks about the neighborhood. It is on these occasions that a male attendant walks about a dozen feet behind her. In Rockcliffe the houses are scattered far apart, with frequent wooded stretches between them. The Dutch Legion here insists that she shall not take these walks unprotected.

Her other diversion consists of shopping excursions in the busy retail centre of the Capital. On these occasions she goes unattended, frequently not even being accompanied by the one lady-in-waiting whom she has with her. She walks from store to store, testing qualities, comparing prices, and, generally, "shopping" with a sure feminine instinct for value.

Her jewels sometimes may betray her, her clothes never. Her customary garb is the plainest of house frocks, over which she wears a coat that is remarkable neither for its elegance of material or of style. The democratic ensemble frequently is

Weddings

BORDEN-FERRERAT

In Garden City United Church, last evening at 7.30, Rev. W. Allan Johnson in matrimony Catherine Margaret, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Ferrerat of Rowland Avenue, to Laurence Claude, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Borden of Powell Street, B.C. The church was beautifully decorated with autumn flowers, and Miss Elsie Fryatt played the wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her great-uncle, Mr. A. E. Campbell, wore an attractive wine-crepe dress and wine powder-puff hat, with veil. She wore wine accessories and a corsage of white carnations, swainsons and fern. She was attended by Miss Blanche Parker dressed in Queen blue sheer, with wine accessories, and a corsage of violets and roses. Mr. Vernon Borden of Vancouver, brother of the groom, assisted as groomsmen. Troopers Gordon Daisell and Richard Johnston were ushers. The solo "Through the Years" was rendered by Mrs. T. Floyd, accompanied by Miss Fryatt.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, who received the guests in a gown of brown silk-cashmere with brown accessories, and a corsage of bronze chrysanthemums. Miss Marion Borden of Vancouver also assisted in receiving in a blue crepe dress with a white jacket and a corsage of salmon-colored chrysanthemums. The rooms were artistically decorated, and the wedding cake centred a table spread with a handsome lace cloth, a family heirloom. Vocal selections were rendered by Mrs. T. Floyd.

Mr. and Mrs. Borden left for a short honeymoon trip on Vancouver Island, the bride donning a teal blue coat, and on their return will take up residence on Gorge Road, West Victoria. Out-of-town guests included Miss J. Macdonald and Mrs. N. Musgrave of Vancouver.

TUTTLE-LEWIN

The marriage of Edna Mae, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Lewis of Vancouver, and Donald Frederick Tuttle, R.C.A.F., Patricia Bay, son of Mrs. Louise Tuttle and the late Joseph Tuttle of Calgary, Alta., took place in St. Saviour's Church, Vancouver, on the evening of September 28, Rev. Dr. Samuel Fee officiating. The bride's frock was of Indian earth chiffon velvet and her bouquet was sweetheart roses. She wore a gold bracelet, a gift from the groom's mother. Miss Olive Cran wore a French wool frock of soldier blue with turban and carried a bouquet of pink carnations, to be the single bridesmaid. Mr. Peter Kerr was best man and the ushers were Mr. Bill Cran and Mr. Tom Eaton.

The bride's parents' home was the setting for the reception when Mrs. Lewis received in a frock of rust and gold with pink and white carnations at the shoulder. Mrs. Tuttle's frock was of French embroidered net over rose crepe with a corsage of roses. The table was laid with a lace cloth centred with the three-tier wedding cake and a bowl of pink roses.

When the young couple left for Victoria, the bride donned a topcoat of air force blue with silver fox fur.

POSKER-LUDDITT

The marriage took place quietly at St. Paul's Church, Vancouver, on September 24, of Miss Beth L. Ludditt of Regina, who has just completed her training at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, and Mr. Reginald Posker, son of Mrs. H. Posker, Burnside Road, and the late Mr. Posker, Rev. Harold King officiated. The bride wore an afternoon frock of Como blue wool crepe, with wine velvet turban, and a corsage bouquet of gardenias, and was attended by Mrs. K. Cooper. Lieut. Kenneth Cooper supported the bridegroom.

After the ceremony, an informal reception for relatives and intimate friends was held at the home of Lieut. and Mrs. K. Cooper. Mr. and Mrs. Posker are making their home in Victoria.

Completed by a shopping bag such as any Ottawa housewife might carry.

HAS FINE JEWELRY

It is not unusual for store girls to serve her without suspicion of her royalty, until told afterwards by some fellow clerk who recognizes her from her picture. The due to her on these occasions is the fineness of her jewelry. Never worn ostentatiously, the few pieces that she almost always has on her person never fail to proclaim their costliness.

Since she came to the Capital she has given no functions. Apart from a few official occasions at Government House immediately after her arrival, the only occasion she has attended has been one formal dinner given by the Netherlands Minister.

POWELL-GOULD

At St. Mary's Church on Wednesday evening at 8, Rev. Cyril Venables united in marriage Cecile Evelyn, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Gould, 777 Falkland Road, and Mr. Chester A. Powell, only son of the late Mr. J. W. Powell and Mrs. A. L. Moss, 2444 Florence Street. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a princess gown of white slipper satin, with hip-length veil attached to a coronet of net. She carried an all-white bouquet of carnations, roses and gardenias. The bridesmaids were her sister, Miss Kathleen Gould, who wore a frock of aqua blue sheer and carried a Colonial posy of Burgundy scabious and pink carnations, and the bridegroom's sister, Miss Kathleen Powell, in a frock of dusty pink sheer trimmed with sequins, who carried a posy of mauve scabious and Tailsman roses. They both wore floral headresses and veils to match their dresses. Mr. Albert Buckler was best man, and the ushers were: Mr. Harry Guest and Mr. Edward Adams.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, who received in a gown of dark green sheer with cream accessories, and Mrs. Moss wore dusky rose with maroon accessories, pink carnations composing their corsage bouquets. The wedding cake centred the table, flanked by white tapers and white flowers. For a honeymoon on the mainland the bride left in a navy blue suit with dark green felt hat and veil and matching accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Powell will make their home in Victoria.

WELLS-MCCARRON

BAMFIELD—About 60 people assembled in the home of Mrs. Nicholas Duggan on Saturday afternoon, September 28, for the wedding of Miss Elly McCarron, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McCarron, Clonnel, North Sydney, Australia, who came to Bamfield cable station two years ago to stay with her sister, Mrs. Duggan, and Mr. Alec Norman "Billie" Wells, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Wells of Kerang, Manley, Australia, who is in the employ of the cable board, and has been stationed here and in the east for some years. Rev. Father Mulvihill officiated.

The bride, who was given away by her brother-in-law, Mr. Nicholas Duggan, looked charming in a redingote frock of clover pink and a matching felt hat. She wore a shoulder corsage of delicate mauve orchids. Her sister, Mrs. Duggan, as matron of honor, wore a smart tailored frock in the new moorland shade, with black shoes and hat, and a corsage of pink roses.

The best man was Mr. Stanley Williams, and Messrs. H. L. S. Baxendale and P. Crakenhorst acted as ushers. During the signing of the register the solo, "All Joy Be Thine," was rendered by Mrs. Harold Denton, accompanied by Mr. George Woods at the piano.

Floral decorations both in the home, where the ceremony took place, and in the bachelor quarters library, where the reception was held, were the work of Mr. Stanley Williams. Mauve and white asters were arranged on the altar, and the library was done in white and yellow flowers with soft banks of greenery to enhance their effect. A three-tier square wedding cake, surmounted by two little silver wedding bells, stood in the centre of the bridal table. Mrs. Angus Fraser acted as hostess, receiving the guests.

Mrs. Wells wore as traveling costume a suit of navy blue wool with matching hat and shoes, and carried a scarlet handbag. The young couple left by the Skidoo 2 for Port Alberni, en route to Vancouver and Victoria for their honeymoon trip.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mrs. R. Martlew, Port Alberni; Mrs. Sankey, Victoria; the Misses Dorothy and Phyllis Blackmore, Port Alberni; Miss Nicholls, Vancouver, and Lieut. Knox, Victoria.

It's not surprising that you're constipated!

If you suffer from constipation, it is not surprising that you feel weary, nervous and are out of sorts. It is time to question yourself. What have you eaten lately? Meat, bread, eggs, butter? It is not surprising that you are constipated. You need a laxative. And "Laxative" doesn't mean quantity, but a kind of food that is not constantly constipated and leaves a soft "mass" in the bowels that helps the bowel movement.

If this is your case, the solution is easy. Buy a box of "Laxative" every day, and get your bowels moving. All "Laxative" is made in Canada, Canada by Kellogg. At all grocers.

The J.B.A.A. Women's Auxiliary held their monthly meeting Tuesday. Plans were discussed for their coming bridge party in aid of the Red Cross on October 16, also preparations for their Halloween dance on October 31. Badminton was played after the meeting.

Pound Party Meets Generous Response

Faithful friends rallied again to the support of the B.C. Protestant Orphans' Home yesterday afternoon, and responded generously to the annual pound party appeal. In addition to many donations of staples, etc., cash donations totaled $61.

Flowers were arranged in the hall and throughout the rooms, where visitors were welcomed by the president, Mrs. D. C. Hughes, assisted by Mrs. F. V. Longstaff and the matron, Mrs. Barner.

Mrs. F. C. Dillabough received the cash donations and Mrs. W. H. Dinmore, Mrs. E. M. Brown and Mrs. J. G. Simpson were in charge of the supplies brought by generous donors.

Tea was served in the dining-room, where, at a table prettily arranged with Michaelmas daisies and pink chrysanthemums and lighted by pink tapers in silver holders, Mrs. R. T. Elliott and Mrs. W. A. Loney poured tea. Assisting in serving were members of the committee and a number of the Junior Women's Auxiliary members.

The visitors were interested in seeing the improvements made recently in the decorations and lighting equipment of the home and the extensive work done in the garden.

A short musical program, including songs, recitations and harmonies selections, was given by some of the children, this feature of the afternoon being enthusiastically applauded by the guests.

Girl Ends 5,000-Mile Ride Across Canada

MONTREAL (CP)—A sturdy English girl with a pleasant smile—Mary Boanquet—today completed her Vancouver-Montreal saddle ride unimpressed with her achievement and fit as a fiddle after riding across 5,000 miles of Canada in little more than 16 months.

She arrived in Halifax a year ago last March with the idea of getting to know Canada and writing a book about it. She hopes to see it published soon in New York, her next stop.

Her mount Timothy carried her about 2,500 miles. She was forced to leave him when his legs were about to give out. Jonty replaced him and brought her today to her destination.

Held Jam-making Bee At St. Mary's Hall

Local Council of Women jam-makers got busy in their new quarters at St. Mary's Hall, Oak Bay, yesterday, where they have just moved their equipment from Lake Hill Community Hall. Yesterday's workers, including Mrs. A. E. Hopkins, Mrs. D. L. MacLaurin, Mrs. W. L. Llewellyn and Miss Molly Llewellyn, Mrs. E. Thorne and Mrs. F. R. Jewkes, made 144 pounds of apple and quince preserve, and 40 pounds of apple butter, which is to be added to the Red Cross emergency supply store.

The quince were given from the gardens of the Provincial Normal School, through the kindness of Dr. V. L. Denton. Archdeacon A. E. de L. Nunns gave valuable assistance to the workers in various ways, and Dr. Olga Jardine helped to transport the equipment from Lake Hill. When not in use at the hall the equipment will be in charge of Mrs. A. Down, Yale Street, who is kindly housing it for the committee.

Show Quaint Old Gowns For Refugees' Fund

In aid of the Refugee Blanket Fund an interesting exhibition of old shawls, Chinese and Indian garments, and old English wedding gowns was held at the Community Hall on Wednesday afternoon under the auspices of the Royal Oak Women's Institute Arts and Crafts section. Mrs. A. P. Hobbs was convener and Miss K. Oldfield welcomed the guests. Tea was served by Misses Barbara Hoole, Doreen Arnott, Jennifer Hobbs and Mrs. Goodacre. Mrs. W. St. Joseph's Juniors To Hold Rummage

Mrs. E. W. Hamber has again graciously consented to be honorary president of the Junior Auxiliary to St. Joseph's Hospital. It was announced at the monthly meeting of the auxiliary, held last evening in the new St. Joseph's Villa. Honorary members for the year were announced by the secretary, Miss K. Mel-dram, and include Mrs. John Hart, Mrs. A. McDermott, Mrs. Duncan McTavish, Mrs. F. M. Bryant, Mrs. James Adam, Mrs. B. F. Aylard and Mrs. W. A. Goward.

Mrs. T. Woolson, convener, reported the rummage sale will take place tomorrow at 1233 Government Street, the sale having been postponed at the request of the V.O.N.

Arrangements are progressing for the barn dance to be held in the Oak Bay Theatre Hall on October 11. It was announced by Mrs. George Fatt, the convener. Mrs. Fatt, as Red Cross convener, reported that knitting meetings will commence at her home, Trutch Street, next Monday evening.

New members were welcomed by the president, Miss B. Colbert. A letter from Sister Mary Alfreda, on behalf of the sisters of St. Joseph's, expressed the appreciation of the work done by the auxiliary and the gifts of the Venetian blinds in the new villa. Sister Mary Beatrice showed the members through the new villa.

Games were played later, under the direction of Miss Rhoda Goward, and refreshments were served by Sister Mary Beatrice.

Mrs. Hobbs included Chitrail and Patron garments, stockings and gloves. Chinese wedding garments, Mandarin's coat, vicoroy's coat and the skin of a golden-haired monkey from the borders of Tibet. The dresses included two wedding gowns over 200 years old, in silk and brocade, and two gowns of later date, about 1880, lent by Mrs. Norman and modeled by Misses Doreen Arnott and Jennifer Hobbs; an evening cloak which was worn by Queen Marie of Rumania; a Paisley shawl, the entire pattern was hand-embroidered; printed and woven Cashmere and silk shawls, and a fine wool shawl from Prince Edward Island.

The R.C.O.C. No. 1 Fortress Workshop W.A. met on Tuesday evening and made plans for a tea at the home of Mrs. C. Langthorne, 2635 Lincoln Road, on October 16, at 2.30 p.m., and also for a rummage sale on Saturday, October 5, at 737 Pandora Avenue. Members who have unfinished knitting were instructed to complete the work and hand it in at the next meeting so that the Christmas parcels may be sent off.

The Victoria Venture Club met in the Scollard Building Wednesday evening, Miss Ruth White-oak, president, in the chair. Mr. Douglas Flintoff was the guest speaker and showed his interesting motion pictures of the Queen Alexandra Solarium, which is the objective of the Venture Club. Miss Louise Rogers, on behalf of the club, thanked Mr. Flintoff for his interesting and helpful talk. As the Venture Club endeavors each year to give to the Solarium a piece of special equipment it was decided to buy them a much needed wheel chair, the club hopes to be able to present this to the Solarium in November. Plans were made for a rummage sale to be held jointly with the Soroptimist Club on November 2; the committee appointed were the Misses Gwyn Spencer, Violet Day, Louise Rogers and Ruth Whiteoak. Misses Marie Thomas, Gertrude Day and Vivienne Nock gave brief notes on the club's study subject, "Canada at War." The next social will be held on Thursday, October 17, in the form of a bowling party.

Appreciation of the government's action in permitting only dry canteens at the camps for trainees was expressed at the meeting of Central W.C.T.U. yesterday afternoon at the Y.W.C.A. Mrs. William Russell, the president, in the chair. A resolution aimed at conserving the foodstuffs of Canada during the war was endorsed. Reports of the Provincial W.C.T.U. convention in Vancouver were given by the delegates—Mrs. Robson, Mrs. M. C. Wilkinson and Mrs. Russell, who were thanked by Mrs. J. W. McKean on behalf of the union. It was decided to make a contribution to the travelers' aid work of the Y.W.C.A. Mrs. S. T. Robson had charge of the opening devotion, and Mrs. Wm. Russell the closing prayers.

The monthly meeting of the S.O.S. Club of Queen City Chapter No. 5, O.E.S., was held at the home of Miss May Sims, Goodwin Street, on Tuesday. Two new members were welcomed into the club and Miss Ada Lacey, one of the organizers of the club, explained the work carried on. Mrs. Mildred Dent and Mrs. Irma McLean, two recent brides, were presented with gifts of silver, and extended the good wishes of the club. The club entertained the junior sisters of Esquimalt Chapter O.E.S. The guests and brides were presented with corsages. After the meeting games were played, and dainty refreshments served by the hostesses.

The Adolescent Study Group of Sir James Douglas School met at the home of Mrs. Henry Howard, with 18 members present. Mrs. Yardley led the interesting discussion on "Jealousy in Children," relative articles being read by Mrs. J. Cameron, Mrs. A. Dowell and Mrs. Townsend. The next meeting will be held October 7, at the home of Mrs. Banks, 335 Arnold Street. Until Christmas the meetings will be held on first and third Mondays of the month, owing to the number of holidays occurring on regular days.

Clubwomen to Hear... Elmore Philpott...

On Tuesday, the Women's Canadian Club will meet at the Empress Hotel when their speaker will be the well-known Canadian journalist, Capt. Elmore Philpott, M.C., taking as his subject "The War Outlook." Capt. Philpott traveled all over Canada last spring speaking throughout to the Associated Canadian Clubs, and this summer has given lectures at the British Columbia summer school. He will give a complete war analysis with an attempt at an outlook for the future. Mr. Norman Tyrell will be the soloist, accompanied by Mrs. C. C. Warr.

Emergency Call for $5,000,000

OUR MEN GIVE ALL... friends, family, friends, careers. They hold nothing back. Unasked, but stirred within by the urge of manhood and pride of race, they go forth bravely to face hardship, loneliness and danger, to risk life itself, in a great cause.

It is your cause for which they fight. You are not asked to give your own life—but you can help to save one.

The Red Cross, of glorious tradition, unchallenged in purpose, needs your help so that it can answer tanks with ambulances, bombs with beds, horrors with hospitals, cruelty with mercy.

Those of us at home will not be less loyal, less generous than our fighting men. We can remind them daily of our gratitude and our devotion, through the Red Cross.

YOUNG PIANIST
RETAINS SPARKLE

Randolph Hokanson, Columbia concert artist who will appear here for the fourth time on Wednesday, October 9, will surprise all those who heard this young artist play five years ago by the great improvement in quality and depth of tone acquired by the pianist under the teaching of Harold Samuel, Myra Hess and Tobias Matthay, all of London, England.

Mr. Hokanson has retained all the sparkle and brilliancy of his youthful playing, and has gained in tone and maturity; in interpretation and feeling.

Having pleased all the New York critics who have heard him—including one of the most severe, Samuel Chotzinoff, Randolph Hokanson will make two debuts here next Wednesday evening. It will be his first professional engagement which marks the beginning of his concert tour, and it is the first engagement since his joining the CBS.

Well Done

Some of the pepper pots (a combination of chicken, pork, pepper, onions and other ingredients) cooking in the West Indies have been on the fire continuously since 1830.

Cigarette Smoke

The visible part of the smoke from one cigarette weighs .0031 of an ounce; 322 cigarettes would be required to be puffed to produce an ounce of smoke, according to a scientific journal.

Roman Sandwiches

Centuries before the English Earl of Sandwich, the Romans ate sandwiches, knowing them under the name of "offula," a diminutive form of "offa," which means a bit or morsel.

Priest's Arctic Cache
Of Gasoline Seized

OTTAWA — The northland in the Hudson Bay area, in direct line with Greenland, has been "cleaned up" of half a dozen gasoline caches, 2,000 gallons of gasoline found in them have been seized and seven wireless stations have been placed under the control of the R.C.M.P., it was disclosed today.

The district is where Rev. Father Paul Schulte, Arctic flying priest, operated for several years until the summer of 1938. Official sources said they had "no direct evidence" the German-born missionary was guilty of Nazi activities, but action was taken to safeguard Canada from attack by the Nazis through the use of these facilities for fifth column activities.

Ottawa officials emphasized strongly they were absolutely convinced members of the Oblate Fathers now in the region were most loyal. Father Schulte is an Oblate father. Nine gasoline caches were established by him in the course of his air travels from one mission post to another, it was said.

The seven short-wave radio stations have a transmission and receiving power of 150 to 200 miles, depending on weather conditions. They will continue to be operated by the Oblate Fathers under license from the Department of Transport and under police supervision. Father Schulte in the period in which he served in the sub-Arctic had access to them.

PRIEST LEAVES FOR U.S.

The gasoline located in Father Schulte's caches was shipped north "in someone else's name," officials revealed. The fact, too, that the gasoline presumably arrived after Father Schulte had left Canada for the United States nearly two years ago, "has given rise to the suspicion in our minds that someone else knew about these caches," officials said.

High civil aviation and church officials today scoffed at charges that Father Schulte was engaged in the Canadian north on anything but missionary work.

"The suggestion he's a spy is a lot of baloney," said an Oblate father at Washington. "The federal bureau of investigation investigated him a year ago and gave him a clean bill of health."

FATHER SCHULTE

When Father Schulte was in Toronto three years ago he stayed at the Oblate Mission of St. Stanislaus Church on Denison Avenue. It is a Polish church. Today a Polish priest described as "ridiculous and preposterous" the spy allegation.

Oblate headquarters at Montreal also denied it. "Father Schulte was here only to establish Oblate missions in the north," said Father Gaudault. "He was organizing traveling facilities to link the missions."

When he came to Canada in 1936, Father Schulte told the Star that Pope Pius XI had instructed him to fly into the Northwest Territories to aid missionaries in their work among Indians and Eskimos. He is the founder of Miva, an international organization "to supply missionaries all over the world with modern means of communication by water, land and air."

Father Schulte held a Canadian pilot's license, as well as licenses from the United States, England and Germany.

When in Toronto his co-pilot was Friedl Lang, son of Anton Lang, the Christus of the Oberammergau passion play.

He was then planning 10 wireless stations to extend from Mooseonee as far north as Chesterfield Inlet. He explained they were "for the use of missionaries of all denominations and for all people who need aid."

Gold Mine Debutante
Puts Patriotism First

MONTREAL — At 17, Melba Lee, heiress to a solid gold Canadian mining fortune, has decided to abandon the rigors of prospecting for social success. This girl whose mother was Melba MacMartin of the millionaire MacMartin clan, will not make her debut as scheduled. Instead, a sum equivalent to one coming out party at the diamond-studded St. Regis in New York will be given, in Melba's name, to buy British war power.

This is okay with Melba, who has never been keen about a debut. Even before her family called upon the St. Regis and drew up plans for a party that would make La Foy's debut look like a church supper, Melba was cold on the idea. She shed no tears when her mother wrote in a clause in the hotel contract, providing that the whole thing would be called off if it was were declared.

The debut was scheduled for December 21. The plan was to convert the sweetly pink and grey St. Regis Roof into a Gaming Pan-American party. Two orchestras were engaged, complete with cancellation clause, and the sub deb studied hundreds of sketches submitted for her debutante gown.

There is now, according to a Dixie Tighe interview with her here, a strong likelihood that on December 21 Melba Lee will be in a Montreal hospital concentrating on the science of X-ray. This is her present plan, and she hopes to complete a course in a year which will fit her for overseas X-ray work.

Of course this plan may not mature. Melba is a mere 17 and it remains to be seen whether she can stand by her present determination to be more useful than social. But at the moment the elegantly tall, gently beautiful young girl is as determined to do her bit as any one of the thousand uniformed men in this city that seems to be in a constant state of parade.

Blessed with flower-like beauty, Melba has hair the color of polished gold. She is five feet eleven and endeavors to maintain her weight at 120 pounds. Her skin is so pale that she suffers sunburning if exposed to just a few minutes of a summer sun, but this by no means interferes with her sports life.

Revered Hippopotamus Hubert, an African hippopotamus, was believed to be the returned spirit of a famous Zulu king by the natives, and laws were passed to grant him special protection.

Oregon Logger
Heads Congress

Pacific Logging Congress directors last night chose Truman W. Collins of Grande Ronde, Oregon, as their president for the coming year.

Mr. Collins is one of the major operators of the Oregon woods and is recognized as a leader of the industry on the coast. He is now directing five operations, including Ostrander Logging Co., Grande Ronde Lumber Co. and Lakeview Logging Co.

He comes of a family of pioneer loggers and recently went back to Pennsylvania to open an operation once worked by his grandfather.

As vice-president he will have A. A. Laumann of Portland, and A. Whisman, known to all congress delegates as "Whiz" will remain as secretary.

Mr. Collins succeeds Fred B. Brown of Vancouver as president. Next year's congress will be held in Seattle the directors decided.

Outside of the annual meeting the loggers turned over their congress yesterday to the entertainment directors for the British Columbia machinery, equipment and supply houses.

This centred around the loggers' aquascope in the Crystal Garden, ending with a dance and floor show in the evening. The five Herzs, a female trapeze troupe from England, highlighted the evening performance, with Anita Francis, cellophane dancer; Larry Moore and Verna de Maeda, tight-wire walkers, and a Y.M.C.A. girls' swimming display.

The cigarette fund for the soldiers overseas was considerably augmented at yesterday's event. Victoria Girls' Drill Team sold a handsome souvenir program in the afternoon and netted $150 for the fund. The congress made a direct $50 vote and the directors added $5 apiece from their own pockets and the allied industries donated $50 which they received for advertising space in their program.

More Houses

OTTAWA (CP) — Announcement of a federal government policy designed to relieve the housing shortage problem in many war-congested areas, is expected shortly, it has been learned today.

Steps have already been taken to prevent undue increases in rentals, and the government now is studying proposed methods of providing new housing in areas where war industries have brought sharp increases in population.

For the Great Response
To Our Fall "Bay Day"

Thanks for the overwhelming response Thursday. We expected large crowds and had carefully prepared our service facilities, but so great was your appreciation of "Bay Day" values that we were practically "swept off our feet." Again, thanks for your grand support.

As we write, this store is crowded... every department is serving to its fullest capacity! Although over 100 extra salespeople augmented our large, regular selling staff, and merchandise and departments were arranged to facilitate service, we know that many of you had to wait before getting proper attention.

We Are Sincerely Sorry...

and hope you'll overlook any inconvenience caused when shopping "Bay Day."

JUST A WORD ABOUT DELIVERIES

Our Delivery Fleet will be taxed to capacity during the next few days... and your "Bay Day" purchases, particularly bulky goods, may not have arrived. We ask your indulgence, and hope it in no way inconveniences you. They will be delivered as soon as possible.

Great Crowd Gives Canadian Scottish a Hearty Send-off

Commanding officers of the other Scottish battalions bid goodbye to Col. Kingham. From left to right, Lieut.-Col. Brooks Stephenson of the 3rd Battalion, Col. Kingham, Col. H. M. Urquhart, D.S.O., M.C., a former O.C. of the regiment and aide-de-camp to the King, and Lieut.-Col. Walter Barty of the 2nd Battalion.

Cheerful faces lend cheer to the "Scotties" as they depart. The girls hugged the boys, mothers fondly kissed their sons, wives embraced their husbands.

The Scotties march off through relatives and friends.

For the second time in a quarter century, Major R. D. Travis left Victoria for war. In the last conflict he went away from here as a gunner in the 62nd battery, C.F.A. Mrs. Travis, above, bids her husband goodbye.

Private Joseph N. Howie takes farewell of his wife and small son and daughter, Jimmie and Rona.

Private Dunholm gets a bag from his girl friend, Miss Morrison.

Lieut. Roland Horsey says goodbye to his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Edward N. Horsey.

Private A. N. Clarke embraces his wife of two months.

Touching farewells like the above were commonplace when the Scots left.

Win 4 Feature Relay Events

Sports Mirror

SAYS WHITNEY MARTIN, Associated Press sports writer, New York:

If past years are an accurate barometer, the World Series this year will be played before two or three hundred thousand fans and two or three ball players.

It's an odd commentary on the mental gymnastics of the major league ball players that, when the sport puts on its greatest show, the athletes are present by proxy unless they are fortunate enough to be in the cast.

The postman takes a walk on his day off, the motorman takes a streetcar ride, the actor takes in a show, and a faster takes in his belt, but your ball player takes nothing but the first train home. You'd think the sheriff was after them the way they fade into the woodwork immediately after the final game of the season.

There is some extenuation for this seeming snubbing of the World Series. In the first place, they are anxious to get home after a long season, and can't be blamed for that. In the second place, they've seen so much baseball the World Series is just another bowl of rice to them.

However, the World Series is their show. If the fans who pay the ball players' salaries took the same attitude toward it as the nonparticipating players the event would be pretty much of a washout.

The fact that the players would have to pay their way in also might be a factor in their snubbing. They probably reason, quite logically, that it's too much like a woodchopper paying to watch another guy chop wood.

Ball players, as a class, are not what might be called speedy men with a dollar. They take the attitude that the public owes them. The more they can get for nothing the better. They're ungrateful, quick to take offense at unkind words, seldom expressing gratitude for kind words.

Their bread and butter is free publicity, but they are curd, if not actually hostile, when approached for stories. You'd think they had just fanned on a low curve, out side, with the bases full.

Two or three months ago the New York sports writers held an outing. The three metropolitan teams were in town, and it was an off day. In fact, the outing was arranged on that date so the players, all invited, would be able to attend.

The turnout of ball players was terrific. It consisted of Jake Powell, the Yankee outfielder. The others just couldn't be bothered, although the party was given by the boys whose scribbling paints the ball players in romantic colors and lures the fans who pay the money that pays the fat salaries.

Naturally there are welcome exceptions to the general classification. Hank Greenberg, when not participating, is a regular attendant at series games, and Moe Berg usually is among those present.

Also, some of the players are as affable gentlemen as you might hope to meet. This is particularly true of the older players, who have figured out that maybe, after all, they are just fortune tellers and that perhaps they owe the public as much as the public owes them.

The roar of the crowd is music to the ears of the players, but what most of them need is a class in music appreciation.

Table Tennis Playoff Billed

With a record of 12 wins, four draws and two defeats, Oakland Hornets finished with the honors in the summer handicap table tennis league. Hornets had a total of 28 points to their credit. K Boys, with 24 points, wound up in second place. They scored 10 wins, drew four times and suffered a like number of reverses.

Young's Cafe won third-place honors with 22 points, and V.H.S. Alumni was fourth with 18 points. Hi-Way Supers and Aces finished the season with 11 and 5 points, respectively.

Playoffs between Hornets, K Boys, Young's Cafe and Alumni will be played next week in the Strathcona Hotel headquarters of the Victoria Table Tennis Association. Draw is: Hornets vs. V. H. S.; K Boys vs. Young's Cafe. In the playoffs players will play with their usual handicaps. A total of 32 games will constitute a match in the playoffs.

Personnel of play-off teams follow:
Oakland Hornets — L. Greenwood, P. Greenwood, E. Seed, T. Chaffett and A. Seed.
"K" Boys — D. Robinson, Ed. Stewart, Ray Dawson and Kay Elston.

Young's Cafe — W. Robinson, J. Jarvis, D. Robinson, M. Robinson and Ray Peckles.
V.H.S. Alumni — J. Gill, W. Browne-Cave, J. Perri, W. Agnew, D. White and V. Tully.

PHILADELPHIA—Billy Mign, 145, Philadelphia, outpointed Joe Ghoulou, 135, St. Louis (8); Lou Fortuna, 143, Philadelphia, outpointed Frankie Wallace, 143½, Cleveland (8).

Cohoes in at Cowichan

The cohoes are in at Cowichan Bay.

This message was telephoned to the Times today by Cowichan Bay fishermen—news which scores of Victoria fishermen have been eagerly awaiting.

The report from the up-island sport fishing village said that there was already a good population of fighting cohoes in the bay now, and that it was being increased daily. Every tide, the fishermen said, bringing new battalions of finny warriors.

The movement of the fish into bay started about three days ago—the latest arrival for fall cohoes in those waters for several years. An indication of what the bay is offering at the present time is

GREENBERG ROMPS IN FOR FIRST SCORE—Here's the first score of the 1940 World Series at Cincinnati, Ohio, with Hank Greenberg romping in to lead the Tigers to their first win. He scored on Higgins' single. Paul Derringer, top, is running in to back up Catcher Wynn. (Apne telephoto).

Burrards Confident of Gaining Dominion Final

See Easy Win For Armstrong

NEW YORK (AP)—Hammerin' Henry Armstrong adds a mark tonight for fighters of the future to shoot at.

The little buzz-saw, who became the first fighter to hold three world championships simultaneously, makes the 20th defence of his welterweight crown against the challenge of Fritz Zivic in Madison Square Garden. Some 15,000 customers and a gate of $60,000 are expected.

If you listen to the gambling boys, it's perpetual motion has no more fear this time from any of the contenders he brushed off since he took the title from Barney Ross back in 1938. They're quoting odds of 1 to 3 in the Broadway betting booths, and there were few takers.

Fritz is no lightly regarded foe. He whipped the National Boxing Association's lightweight champion, Sammy Angott, a few weeks ago.

Island Hoop Meeting Sunday

Delegates of the Vancouver Island Basketball Association will gather in Nanaimo, Sunday, at 1 p.m. for the association's annual meeting. Island basketball plans for 1940-41 season will be shaped and officers elected for the new season.

Following officers are asked to attend: Wally Yeamans, Victoria, president; Bishop, Port Alberni, vice-president; Pete Maffeo, Nanaimo, past president; Ernie Stock, secretary-treasurer. Saanich Council members from Victoria and District, Saanich, Victoria Sunday School, Duncan, Ladysmith and Chemainus, Nanaimo, Cumberland and Courtenay and Port Alberni will also be in attendance to discuss plans for the coming season.

WATERBURY, Conn.—Eddie Dolan, 145½, Waterbury, outpointed Jimmy Leto, 151, Hartford (10).

Pitt Meadows Wins Boxla Laurels

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP)—Pitt Meadows Wild Ducks headed home today with the British Columbia Intermediate lacrosse championship safely tucked away following an 11 to 5 victory last night over Kamloops Klippers. The lower mainland team won the first game of a best-of-three series Monday 17 to 7.

The Kamloops squad was no match for the speedy crew from Pitt Meadows. Klippers made a desperate bid in the last quarter, but could score only two goals to Pitt Meadows' six.

With the championship goes the Hartney Memorial Trophy, held last year by Powell River.

Newark Favored in Little Series

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Newark Bears' chances of winning the Little World's Series appeared extremely "bullish" today.

The International League representatives scored their second victory in two starts last night on the base-running and batting ability of big Ed Levy, first baseman, who turned a seventh-inning hit inside the park, which normally would have been a triple, into a home run when Louisville Colonels were slow on handling the throw-in. The final score was 3 to 2.

The teams meet here for the final time tonight and Charley Wagner, who has won 11 games in a row, is the likely Colonel choice, while Steve Peek is listed to start for the Bears.

The clubs will complete the best of seven series in Newark.

United Practice

Manager Art Poyntz announced today that a workout of the Victoria United soccer team will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 at Heywood Avenue. All last year's players are asked to attend. Others wishing to join the club are invited to turn out.

World Series Chatter

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

CINCINNATI (AP)—Unless attendance picks up a bit at Detroit today in the third game of the World Series, the principal actors in the big baseball classic are liable to get a slight slush in the snow.

With the two openers at Cincinnati out of the way, attendance and receipts are a country mile behind the 1939 figures set in the Yankee-Red event which ended in a 4 to 0 rout for the Gothamites.

The first two games at Yankee Stadium last year attracted 118,332 paying customers, the cash registers ringing to the cheery tune of $445,058. This year, in the limited-capacity Cincinnati park, the two tilts drew only 62,443 fans, and receipts of $292,542.10.

The players' pool last year, with the New York contests out of the way, totaled $226,979.58, while this year's two-game cash for the all-star cast was only $149,196.47—a slight difference of $77,783.11, which 'ain't hay."

The players cash in on only the first four games, so the Detroit fans had better flock into the stadium today and tomorrow if they want the boys to get the right kind of a bonus for their good work this season.

Of course, the Tigers and the Reds aren't the only ones who will get hungry this winter if the ante isn't "upped," for the next three clubs in each loop cut a slice out of the World Series coin.

And that fund, which for the first two acrops last year soared to $151,319.72, is down to $90,564.32 this season.

Beat Ontario In First Game Of Boxla Semis

MONTREAL (CP)—Only one more hurdle stood today between Vancouver Burrard Blue Bombers and a berth in the Canadian senior lacrosse final, and the British Columbian were confident that the obstacle would be negotiated easily.

The Blue Bombers took the first jump last night when they defeated Cornwall Braves 17 to 9 in the first game of a best-of-three Mann Cup semifinal series. The winner meets St. Catharines in the national final.

The half ended with Burrards ahead 7 to 5, and the Braves were able only to add three more scores while their opponents fired home 10 more goals.

MORPHETT STARS

The big star in the Vancouver victory was Bill Morphett, who tallied five goals and helped in another. Morphett started the Vancouver team off with a pair of goals on the first two shots of the game, got another in the second quarter and then added two more in the last quarter.

By far the outstanding player for Cornwall was centreman Henry Payette, who equalled Morphett's point total with three goals and three assists. Beau Bradford was second high scorer for the winners with three goals and one assist.

COACH CONFIDENT

Burrard's coach, Les Dickinson, noting his players were well toughened by the long intercity league season in Vancouver, and had escaped from the series opening game unscathed, expected the Pacific coast champions would have little difficulty in taking the series in straight games.

"We were just beginning to get our bearings in the last two quarters," he said. The Cornwall team, representatives of the Quebec Amateur Lacrosse Association in the Mann Cup play-downs, held the blue-sweatered Burrards to 7 to 5 in the first half.

Dickinson said Burrards found it difficult to accustom themselves to the sandy-colored floor and white boards of the Montreal Forum. In the west they were accustomed to green floors and background against which the white ball showed up much better.

In the opening periods, he said, his charges were at some disadvantage by being unfamiliar with a few eastern quirks in the rules. In the Cornwall test, there was disappointment. Most of the players, however, expected they would do better today and felt they were the victims of the "breaks" last night.

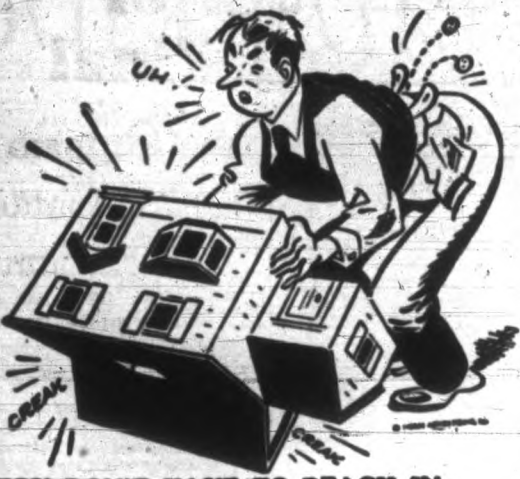

BADMINTON STARTS

Willows Badminton Club ushered in its new season this week, a large number of players being on hand for the opening night of informal play. New faces were seen in the club ranks, in addition to the many regulars.

Playing nights for the coming season will be Mondays and Wednesdays. It has been decided that men wishing to join the club who are members of the Canadian Active Service Force would be able to do so without paying the usual entrance fee, but would have to pay their regular membership fee.

Owing to war conditions it has been decided not to sponsor a junior club this season.

Anti-5th Column Drive

B.C. to Check Guns And Registration

A corps of between 4,000 and 5,000 volunteer workers will shortly begin a house-to-house check up in British Columbia for illegal guns and persons who have not signed the national registration.

Plans for the minute search to guard against fifth columnists were unfolded today by Attorney-General Gordon Wismer following conferences here this week between representatives of the B.C. police, R.C.M.P., municipal police heads and the national defence department.

Mr. Wismer said all these law enforcement groups are co-operating closely on the question of internal security and maintaining constant contact.

Keystone of the civilian security force will be the Air Raids Precautions organization built up in Victoria and Vancouver in recent months under Major S. F. Moodie, civilian protection officer. Major Moodie has now been appointed to the provincial police staff with the rank of inspector in charge of A.R.P.

Supplementing the A.R.P. in the outlying districts will be war veterans who have volunteered their services and police. Later the A.R.P. organization will be extended to take in all major centres of the province.

Mr. Wismer appealed for the co-operation of the public in the conduct of the province-wide round-up.

"I realize there will be some inconveniences," he said, "but people must understand that it is for the safety of the state. Loyal citizens will give every assistance to the volunteer workers."

"In the matter of guns the last day for registration was on Monday. Those who have unregistered guns in their possession have until October 10 to surrender them without fear of prosecution. After that day possession of an unregistered weapon is an offence."

Mr. Wismer left for Vancouver this afternoon to address the air raids wardens there and later will meet the Victoria group to outline the new plan.

Tough Job for Reporter Covering Logging Congress

By REBY MacDONALD

We covered the Logging Congress last night.

Today I'm a stretcher case.

It all started innocently enough over at the display of machinery near the Gardens. We examined the tires on that big baby at the end, which cost a mere $280 each, and decided we'd better decide on the smaller one because the tires there only cost $88. We talked to the Allis-Chalmers man and sympathized with him as he was feeling a bit grim after a small boy climbed his tractor, pushed a button, pulled a gear stick and headed up the street with it before anyone could stop him. This man sent us to the hotel to get exact prices from the agent, and remained behind to keep an eagle eye on small boys with mechanical leanings.

Would you believe that such an innocent beginning would end with us helping to dry off one of the "Big Men" after he had jumped fully dressed into the Crystal Pool?

500,000 WORTH ON DISPLAY

It was all a little confused in my mind at 8 this morning, but if I write it out, perhaps it will come a bit clearer.

The first room we were sent to, we got just what you wanted, Mr. Editor. Honest! We found that a nice tractor would cost you a mere $14,000. You could have that snappy yellow grader at the end for $20,000. There was a 16-ton truck there which complete with its arch weighed 25 tons. We found out that the Caterpillar equipment alone was worth $250,000 and that the whole exhibit would run over a half million.

At the second room we got a statement: "In the event of war, the United States would not turn out tanks, because there would be an increased demand for tractors and graders for work behind the lines. New tank factories would be built with perhaps some of the engineers and directors from the tractor factories at their heads."

EVEN A HOUSEHOLD NEED
The third room was the headquarters of the Thew Shovel Company. They had sent up that

TOWN TOPICS

Monthly meeting of the Greater Victoria Shinglers' Association will be held tonight at 738 Fort Street at 8.

The annual meeting of the Ward Seven Saanich Liberal Association will be held Monday night at 8 in Hampton Hall.

Saanich zoning board of appeal turned down two applications to erect buildings in the municipality at a meeting yesterday afternoon. The applications were made by Victor H. Rasmussen to erect a shoe repair shop at the corner of Carey and University Roads and Lou Orrico to erect a greenhouse on Shelbourne Street near the corner of Grant Street.

In Saanich police court yesterday afternoon motorists were fined $60 for traffic violations. One motorist was fined $10 for exceeding the speed limit in the recently restricted Cordova Bay area. Two were each fined $10 for speeding through school zones. Another motorist was fined $10 for failing to return to the scene of an accident and an additional $5 for not having his driver's license, and a fifth car driver was fined $10 and $5 on charges of failing to have a driver's license and failing to stop at a stop sign.

The report of the medical superintendent of the Queen Alexandra Solarium for the month showed patients in Solarium a September 30, 65. In Jubilee Hospital, 1 patients admitted; 3 discharged; 5 casts applied; 1 cast reinforced; 1 cast taken for cellulitis; 3 teeth extracted; 12 X-rays taken; 43 physiotherapy exercises and treatments; 774 laboratory examinations, 356.

Fines totaling $150 were imposed on motorists by Magistrate Henry C. Hall in City Police Court today. One motorist was fined $30 for dangerous driving and another was fined $20 on a similar charge, another was fined $10 for overtaking a street car about to discharge or take on passengers; three were fined $10 each for speeding over the 30 miles an hour limit and two were each fined $10 for speeding past a school zone. Two motorists were each fined $5 for failing to have a signal device on their machines; and 12 drivers were each fined $2.50 on parking charges. Another motorist was remanded until Wednesday when he pleaded not guilty to a charge of dangerous driving.

Warehouse Fire Destroys Paper

City fire department was called to a fire of undetermined origin yesterday afternoon which destroyed a quantity of waste paper, cardboard cartons and excelsior stored in a warehouse behind the premises of P. Burns & Company on Store Street.

The building was rented by George Allan, Dalhousie Street, from P. Burns & Company. Mr. Allan reported the loss was covered by insurance.

Fire department received the alarm at 1.43 and on arriving at the scene a few minutes later, found flames had taken a good hold on the highly inflammable contents of the building.

A large crowd was attracted to the fire by large volumes of smoke which poured from the building. The building itself was only slightly damaged.

CHARGE DISMISSED AGAINST JACK COLE

A charge under the Defence of Canada Regulations against John Alexander "Jack" Cole, Kamloops, of making statements likely to be prejudicial to the efficient prosecution of the war, was dismissed by Magistrate Henry C. Hall in City Police Court today.

The words Cole was alleged to have said, Magistrate Hall said, in summing up the case, were entirely contrary to the make-up of the man.

He was a veteran of the Great War and had made several attempts to get into the army since the outbreak of the present conflict.

The incident in which he was involved with a sergeant in the nonpermanent active militia resulted from a grievance that he himself had not been accepted for the army, the Magistrate said.

Capt. S. H. Okell Depot Officer

Alderman S. H. Okell, who finished the first great war with the Military Cross and the rank of major, has been appointed officer in charge of depot, Canadian Scottish Regiment, it was learned here today. He will serve as captain, the rank he accepted when he returned to the service with the Third Battalion, Canadian Scottish, N.P.A.M., three months ago.

His duties, it was understood, would permit him to continue as an alderman of the City of Victoria for the remaining 15 months of his two-year term. He has already served five years on the council, topping the aldermanic poll in the civic elections in December, 1938.

In his new position he will be in charge of the depot for all three battalions of the regiment, making arrangements for those unable to join the First Battalion when it left today, arranging transfers and possibly handling recruiting for replacements.

Captain Okell went overseas in March, 1916, as lieutenant with the 67th Battalion, Western Scots, served as lieutenant and captain and was later transferred when the 67th disbanded to the 102nd Canadian Infantry Battalion in France. With that unit he served as second in command of a company, later as company commander and finally as adjutant. He was twice wounded, at Canal du Nord and Bourlon Wood, was awarded the M.C. and finished service as a major.

For the last 18 years he has been manager of the Red Cross Workshop for disabled ex-servicemen, a position he will relinquish to assume his new duties.

Lake Mud Reveals Facts About Olden People

Yesterday I spoke of the dug-out boats which were used by Swiss Lake Dwellers. Such boats are only a few of the remains of tribes which once lived over the waters of Swiss lakes.

Our knowledge of these Lake Dwellers goes back to 1854. In that year there came a dry season which left the Lake of Zurich much more shallow than it had been before.

A scene in village of Swiss Lake Dwellers as imagined by our artists.

People living beside a bay of the Lake of Zurich put machines to work dredging it. While the work was going on, the machines struck against wooden posts at the bottom.

There were hundreds of posts, and people wondered how they happened to be there. Scientists were called and they studied not only the posts but also the mud and sand around them. They discovered such objects as stone knives and axes, also spearheads and arrowheads.

That event led to dredging other parts of the lake, also other lakes. Dozens of groups of posts were discovered. In a single lake bottom there were 49 groups of posts.

Slow, careful work turned up a vast number of things in the mud and sand. Bones of animals and remains of cloth and grain were found in many places.

The story of Swiss Lake Dwellers has been learned fairly clearly from the things they left behind them. They built platforms over lakes, and houses on the platforms. We also have proofs that some piers or platforms had barns in which cattle and swine were kept.

The Lake Dwellers had water all around them, but their villages often suffered from fires. This we know by the charred remains of cloth, grain and other objects which fell into the water and sank to the bottom. The fires helped give us knowledge of those people—the charring on the outside of the cloth and grain saved them for us to see.

The cloth was made from flax. In other words, it was linen cloth. A hundreds bushels of burned grain were raked up from the mud where one Swiss Lake Village stood. We also have scorched "bread-cakes" which were made by these people. Poppy seed and flax seed often were mixed with wheat or barley meal when bread-cakes were prepared.

Copper and bronze tools, as well as stone tools, have been found among the remains of some villages of Swiss Lake Dwellers.

HOROSCOPE

SATURDAY, October 5

Benefic aspects rule today which promises much from social contacts. Women will succeed under this configuration, if they are canvassing for votes or are aiding in a philanthropic movement.

This is a "lucky day" for entertaining. Good fortune may attend hospitality to persons much in the limelight. The stars smile on political candidates, all of whom will be aided by women clever in political work. Women of all classes will be wise to make the most of these autumn days in which the old order of their world is changing. Romance is promised for the young under this way.

This is a favorable day for shopping and the foresighted will buy leather and woolen goods in quantities that will last. The stars promise continued prosperity until the approach of the new year at which time will come the first days of reckoning for the vast outlays caused by foreign wars. The coming holiday trade should be profitable, despite rising taxes and other drains on the family pocketbook.

Owing to reports of Hitler's reliance on astrology, the ancient science has been advertised as never before, but it is probable that the Fuehrer's seers do not tell him the whole truth. Evil persons now are seen in the horoscope of the man responsible for aggression, persecution, wholesale suffering, death and misfortune. Next year his lucky star is to be dimmed, it is forecast.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson

ANSWER: Right. But a number of species have lost the use of them.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—We are two sisters, both married. Our father and mother have been living thus far by themselves in a small house which they rent. Father has lost his position, and as they have only a small income, they wish to break up housekeeping and come and live with us. Unfortunately, our parents are very fault-finding and nagging and hard to get along with, and we realize that to take them into our homes will be disastrous, as we had a taste of living with them for a short time after we were married, and the results were terrible. Our husbands are good men and willing to do the right thing. But what is the right thing under the circumstances?

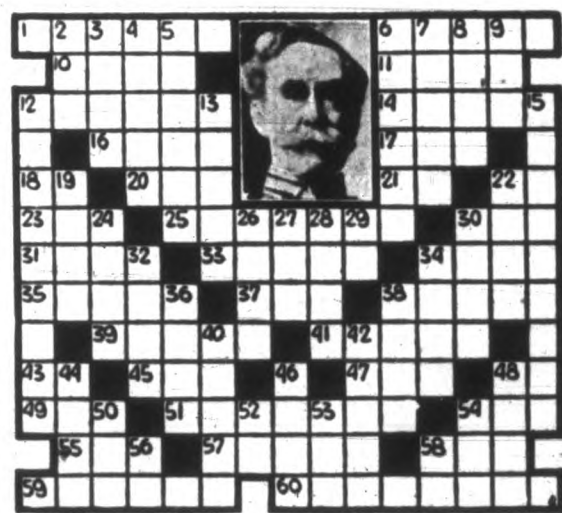

ANSWER: The right thing will be for you both to give your parents a monthly allowance that will enable them to live simply but comfortably, and remain in their own home.

This would be best for them and best for you. It would be best for them because it would give them their freedom and furnish them an occupation. One of the reasons why old people are so difficult to live with is because of their perpetual interference and criticisms, and this is the result of their having nothing to do and no interests of their own.

Mother and Father, after having been busy for a lifetime, break up their home and go to live with their children. Their hands are idle, their minds unoccupied. They have no plans of their own, and so they sit around and find fault and advise and suggest until they run everybody mad. And they are miserable themselves because they are bored.

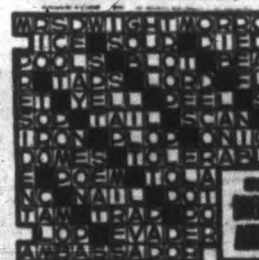

That is why old people should be kept in their own homes and permitted to live their own lives as long as possible. That way happiness lies for all.

Enemy Bomber Downed in Sea

Nazi Convoy, Barges, Oil, Bombed

LONDON (CP)—Text of an Air Ministry communique Friday:

"Unfavorable weather conditions (thick clouds and mists) prevailed throughout yesterday and daylight activities of our bomber aircraft were restricted.

"Attacks were made on shipping off Dunkerque, on Rotterdam Harbor, on barge concentrations at Heusden on the Naas and on an industrial plant near Wesel.

"Other aircraft attacked railway communications and oil storage depots in the vicinity of Cherbourg.

GERMAN OCCUPIED FRANCE

"All our aircraft returned safely.

"Weather conditions deteriorated further last night and bomber operations were cancelled.

"This morning of the east, an enemy bomber was shot down into the sea by our fighters."

The ministry reported a British high explosive bomb on a German convoy of 12 merchantmen escorted by warships off Dunkerque, but said the results were obscured by low clouds "in which the aircraft were quickly enveloped."

"Taking full advantage of the cover provided by yesterday's low flying clouds, bombers of the R.A.F. carried out a series of raids directed chiefly against coastal objectives from Rotterdam to Dunkerque," the ministry said in amplification of its communique.

ALMOST LOOPED

The communique said anti-aircraft shells fired at a British bomber diving to attack a supply ship near Dunkerque "exploded immediately beneath the bomber" and "threw the aircraft up so violently that it almost completed a loop."

Later, it said, two shipping light squadrons low-flying attack basins in Rotterdam were bombed while at Heusden on the Maas bombs of heavy calibre were seen to strike the quay sides. "A large iron works between Wesel and Halkern was also attacked during the afternoon by a bomber which flew across Holland and penetrated into western Germany."

GERMAN CLAIMS

BERLIN (AP)—The German high command's communique today said:

"Contrary to the German air activity, the enemy air force during the day and (last) night nearly completely abstained from raids.

"Only a single plane attacked a western German industrial plant without noteworthy property damage. Some British planes approached the Norwegian coast. Bombs dropped there were ineffective. One aggressor was downed by a chaser.

'Strip-tease' Act Initiates U.B.C. Frosh

VANCOUVER—Feature of the smoker at the University of British Columbia to welcome freshmen, turned out to be a strip-tease act, put on by the initiation committee as part of the initiation rites for men students only.

There was a floor show with a dancing act, halfway through which a girl dancer came forward and slowly peeled off one piece of clothing after another to cavort nude before 200 shocked and excited male students.

At the office of University President Kinck it was said today nothing officially was known of the nude show.

Ubyssey, student newspaper, is a campaign for purity, puts the Alma Mater student government society "on the spot" over the strip-teasing.

101 YEARS TODAY—Today Mrs. Anne Duke started her second century of life. She reached her 101st birthday, which she celebrated quietly with her family and a few intimate friends at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Annie Trotter, 405 Dupplin Road, where she lives. Mrs. Duke was born in Ontario October 4, 1839, two years after Victoria went on Britain's throne. Thus she has lived in the reigns of five monarchs. For some time she taught at a village school and then came west with her husband. That was 56 years ago and for 40 years the family lived on an Albert Head farm. A little frail in health now, Mrs. Duke has a remarkable memory and enjoys life.

Governor Opens Fine New Villa At St. Joseph's

With a large golden key, His Honor the Lieut.-Governor yesterday afternoon formally opened St. Joseph's Villa for tubercular patients.

"This is a milestone in the history of the Sisters of St. Ann," His Honor said. "This sisterhood has grown across the whole Dominion and its attention to the sick and the poor has indeed been wonderful."

The Lieut.-Governor mentioned the strides medicine and surgery had made in bringing T.B. patients back to health.

"I want to congratulate the Sisters for the noble work they are doing and I hope they will continue," His Honor said.

John V. Fisher, Deputy Minister of Finance, made an efficient chairman, introducing the various speakers in the half-hour program. He briefly traced the history of St. Joseph's Hospital and told of the fine work it had done for the sick and suffering of Greater Victoria. The congratulations of all Victoria should go to the Sisters of St. Ann, he said.

Hon. Dr. G. M. Weir, provincial secretary, told of the progress made in T.B. prevention. The war unfortunately, he said, made it impossible to forecast whether or not the gains would be held.

ALWAYS RESPONDED

"I would like to say, too, that the Sisters of St. Ann have never been asked to do anything for the sick that they have not done without alacrity," Dr. Weir said. They have done so economically and efficiently. I know the excellent work they are doing in various parts of the province. I know the Christian and humanitarian work they are performing."

Mayor McGavin said "it is always a pleasure to come to St. Joseph's. The sisters are doing splendid work. They have always kept a little ahead of the need for accommodation. They are no doubt preparing, and I know they will co-operate fully, for the work which the war will bring upon them."

THANKS NON-CATHOLICS

John C. Cody sincerely thanked all those non-Catholic friends of St. Joseph's who had made the new villa possible. A great deal of the credit for the success of St. Joseph's belonged to them, he said. He thanked the sisters for their care of the sick and afflicted.

"The sisters, with their religious garb, remind their patients of the hereafter, the sick human being remembers he is not a sick animal, but a child of God, with a hereafter to look forward to—religious power in healing the sick is a power that no doctor has tried to deny."

WELCOMED GUESTS

The guests were met on their arrival by Mother Mark Mark, provincial superior of the Order of St. Ann; Sister Mary Alfred, superior of St. Joseph's, and Sister Mary Francis, superintendent of the new villa. Among the guests were Hon. John Hart and Mrs. Hart, Dean Spencer Elliott, Commander W. B. L. Holmes, representing Commodore W. J. R. Beech; Flying Officer E. B. Johnson, representing Air Commodore A. E. Godfrey; R. W. Mayhew, M.P.; Mrs. R. B. McKicking, Charles E. Wilson, Alderman and Mrs. D. D. McTavish, Mrs. Andrew McGavin, Chief of Police McEllan and Commissioner T. W. S. Parsons of the B.C. Police. His Honor was accompanied by Mrs. Hamber, Lieut.-Col. Vincent McKenna and Mrs. Mae Rice. Miss Wall, of the nursing staff, presented Mrs. Hamber with a corsage of gardenias. The nurses' choir sang O Canada.

Presentation of the key to His Honor was made by Henry Whitaker, provincial government architect, who did the plans for the villa.

His Honor and Mrs. Hamber led the guests on an inspection of the new premises. They saw the modern diet kitchen, the X-ray rooms and the gleaming white patients' rooms and semiprivate wards, with their Venetian blinds and screened windows.

Refreshments were served by the Sisters from a table centred with a large pink and white iced cake which was cut by Mrs. Hamber.

Engine Valves

A simple test of the grinding of automobile engine valves is to bounce each valve in its seat. If it bounces back, it is ground properly; if it fails to bounce, have it reground.

Chapter to Hold Guest Tea in November

The Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter I.O.D.E. will hold a guest tea in aid of chapter funds on November 14 at the headquarters, 202 Union Building. Mrs. Armstrong and Mrs. J. T. Williams will be the tea convenors and Miss Mugford and Miss Josephine Crease will have charge of a table of articles suitable for Christmas and other gifts. At the meeting held yesterday silent tribute was paid to the memory of Mrs. Hamilton Browne, who passed away recently, and sympathy expressed for Mrs. E. C. Weston and Mrs. Chas. H. French in their bereavement.

The chapter decided to place the $140 which has been raised to improve Clover Point at some future time in war bonds. A splendid contribution for the book shower for the services was brought by members to this meeting. Mrs. Dinmore has donated a radio to be used at one of the training camps.

Mrs. R. B. McKicking, founder of the chapter, will be congratulated by her on attaining her 91st birthday.

Miss Georgina Herd, treasurer, gave a financial report also presented the war convener's report. Ditty bags were taken by the members, who will fill them with gifts for Christmas to be given to the service men. Several woolen articles were brought to this meeting to be used in war work. Mrs. A. S. Christie was appointed delegate to semi-provincial meeting in Chilliwack. Mrs. F. G. Mulliner's "Echoes" was read. Two new members were welcomed, Mrs. W. C. Moresby and Mrs. Margaret MacLachlan. After the meeting Mrs. Lincoln Smith, Mrs. C. V. Milton and Mrs. Wm. Middleton served tea.

Tips Low, Waiters Want More Wages

VANCOUVER — Arbitration of a wage dispute between the Hotel Vancouver management and the Hotel Restaurant Employees' Union began Tuesday before Magistrate G. R. McQueen.

John Wigdor, acting as counsel for the hotel employees, claimed that the present wage scale of 31½ cents per hour for waiters is inadequate, and argued that tips are "a private matter between the waiter and his patrons."

William Grundy, waiter, told the board that he averages $35 a month wages and "about $40" in tips.

FREE TRAVEL

J. E. McMillan, K.C., counsel for the hotel management, pointed out that employees receive free-traveling privileges, a pension fund and uniform.

John Stanton, representing the employees, and W. Crombie, representing the hotel, are members of the board under Magistrate McQueen, chairman.

In testimony, waiters told the arbitration board that they would gladly forego tips and the privilege of eating free in the hotel for a monthly salary of $125.

Busboys — who "understudy" waiters and are paid by them a percentage of tips received — said they would accept $100 a month on the same basis.

In his testimony, Mr. Grundy said that tips have dropped "10 per cent" since the depression. A dollar tip, once not uncommon, is rare today. However, he said, most patrons leave some tip, although dinner parties of four often leave a total of only 25 cents.

In answer to a question, Grundy said that he has received tips even lower than a nickel.

Bread From Nuts

Common in the West Indies is the breadnut, which has a taste like the hazelnut. The breadnut is roasted and then ground into a flour from which bread is made by the natives.
